

Around Fire Base 6 . . .

Blockbusters Used On Reds

Saigon (AP) — U.S. planes are dropping 7½-ton blockbusters on North Vietnamese, besieging Fire Base 6 in the first use of the powerful bomb on enemy troops, U.S. military sources said Monday.

Previously, the blockbusters were employed mostly to blast out heavy jungle growth and clear landing spaces for helicopters.

Around Fire Base 6 in the Central Highlands, said one military source, "we are not as interested in putting in helicopter pads as we are in knocking out troop concentrations."

Lateral Blast

The blockbusters are being adapted as antipersonnel weapons because of their lateral blast, exploding on the surface rather than digging holes in the ground.

They are pulled from four-engine C130 cargo planes by parachutes. A second parachute stabilizes the bomb.

U.S. B52 Stratofortresses for the sixth successive day struck at North Vietnamese positions near the fire base. This time they unloaded their bombs about a mile southwest of the base.

The artillery outpost, 300 miles north of Saigon and six miles east of the border juncture of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam, has been under siege since March 31.

It is manned by less than two battalions of South Vietnamese troops with a few U.S. advisers.

Annual Attack

Each year the North Vietnamese have attacked the fire bases, which overlook infiltration trails, but this year's drive is the largest.

From Pleiku, Associated Press photographer Neal Ulevich reported that U.S. helicopters flew in food, water and ammunition to the base Monday morning.

On the ground, South Vietnamese rangers assaulted a hilltop position of an estimated North Vietnamese platoon — 20 to 25 men — to knock out gun positions that were shelling Fire Base 6.

Saigon headquarters said the rangers killed 15 North Vietnamese and captured eight weapons. A spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, did not say whether the enemy guns were silenced.

Elephant Killed

Ulevich also reported that U.S. helicopter gunship crews killed a pack elephant being used by North Vietnamese troops to carry supplies in the jungles.

In Saigon, the U.S. Command announced American troop strength fell to 298,509 last week, the first time in 4½ years that it had sunk below the 300,000-man level.

The figures as of last Thursday were 5,400 fewer than in the previous week. The total will be lowered to 284,000 by May 1.

In the light of the continuing withdrawal, a field commander disclosed that the remaining U.S. troops around Saigon will be turned into a highly mobile, hard-hitting strike force.

Lt. Gen. Michael S. Davison, commander of the U.S. 2nd Field Force that embraces Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, said his field force will have only a brigade of about 7,500 combat troops after May 1. The 2nd Field Force will be downgraded to a combined tactical and advisory headquarters for the region, he added.

EGYPT REJECTS OFFER

Dayan's Proposal Cold-Shouldered

Restatement Cited

By The Associated Press

Egyptian officials turned down Monday a suggestion by Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan to withdraw Israel's troops from the Suez Canal under a permanent cease-fire and agreement that no Soviet or Egyptian troops will cross the canal.

The Egyptians insisted their forces must occupy positions on the Israeli-held side of the canal. "Egypt will accept nothing less," officials in Cairo said.

"We have nothing new to add. Our position has been clarified by President Anwar Sadat's restatement of April 3."

First Step

Sadat, in his restatement, demanded the partial withdrawal of Israel's forces from the Sinai Peninsula as the first step toward relinquishing all Egyptian territory occupied since 1967. Sadat said he would then reopen the canal.

Sadat also said Egypt would promptly cross the waterway to "assume its national duties" as Israel withdrew.

Dayan, who put forth his idea Sunday at a news conference in Tel Aviv, said any partial pullback "must lead to the comprehensive settlement for which we are willing."

Authoritative sources in Cairo described Dayan's suggestion as a "partial settlement" which Egypt has always rejected. Egypt cannot accept anything less than total settlement, they said.

Total Withdrawal

Cairo emphasizes this requires Israeli evacuation of all occupied areas, including territory in Syria and Jordan. It also requires restoration of "Palestinian rights" in an equitable settlement of the refugee problem — something which has eluded world statesmen for years.

Dayan apparently envisaged some sort of demilitarization of western Sinai to be patrolled by international forces.

On April 3, Sadat agreed to an "international arrangement" in Sinai to keep the hostile forces apart. He accepted the notion of demilitarization zones straddling the frontier on both sides.

'Minisummit' Held

Sadat, who has said April will be Egypt's "month of decision" on peace or war, met in Cairo Monday with heads of state from Sudan and Syria in a "minisummit" of Tripoli charter states.

Strongman Muammar Kadafi of Libya, the fourth member of the Tripoli charter, bowed out of the sessions without explanation at the last moment and, instead, dispatched two members of Libya's Revolutionary Council, Maj. Abdel Salam and Maj. Abdel Moneim Elouni.

The Tripoli charter was negotiated and signed a year ago by the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser with Libya and Sudan. It envisages the eventual confederation of member states, Syria later joined the charter.

The leaders are examining the situation in Jordan where the army reported a pre-dawn guerrilla attack Monday on two northern villages in which commandos used rockets and heavy machine guns.

MIG23s In Egypt

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli press voiced distress over reports Moscow has given Egypt MIG23s, reputedly the world's fastest fighter-interceptor.

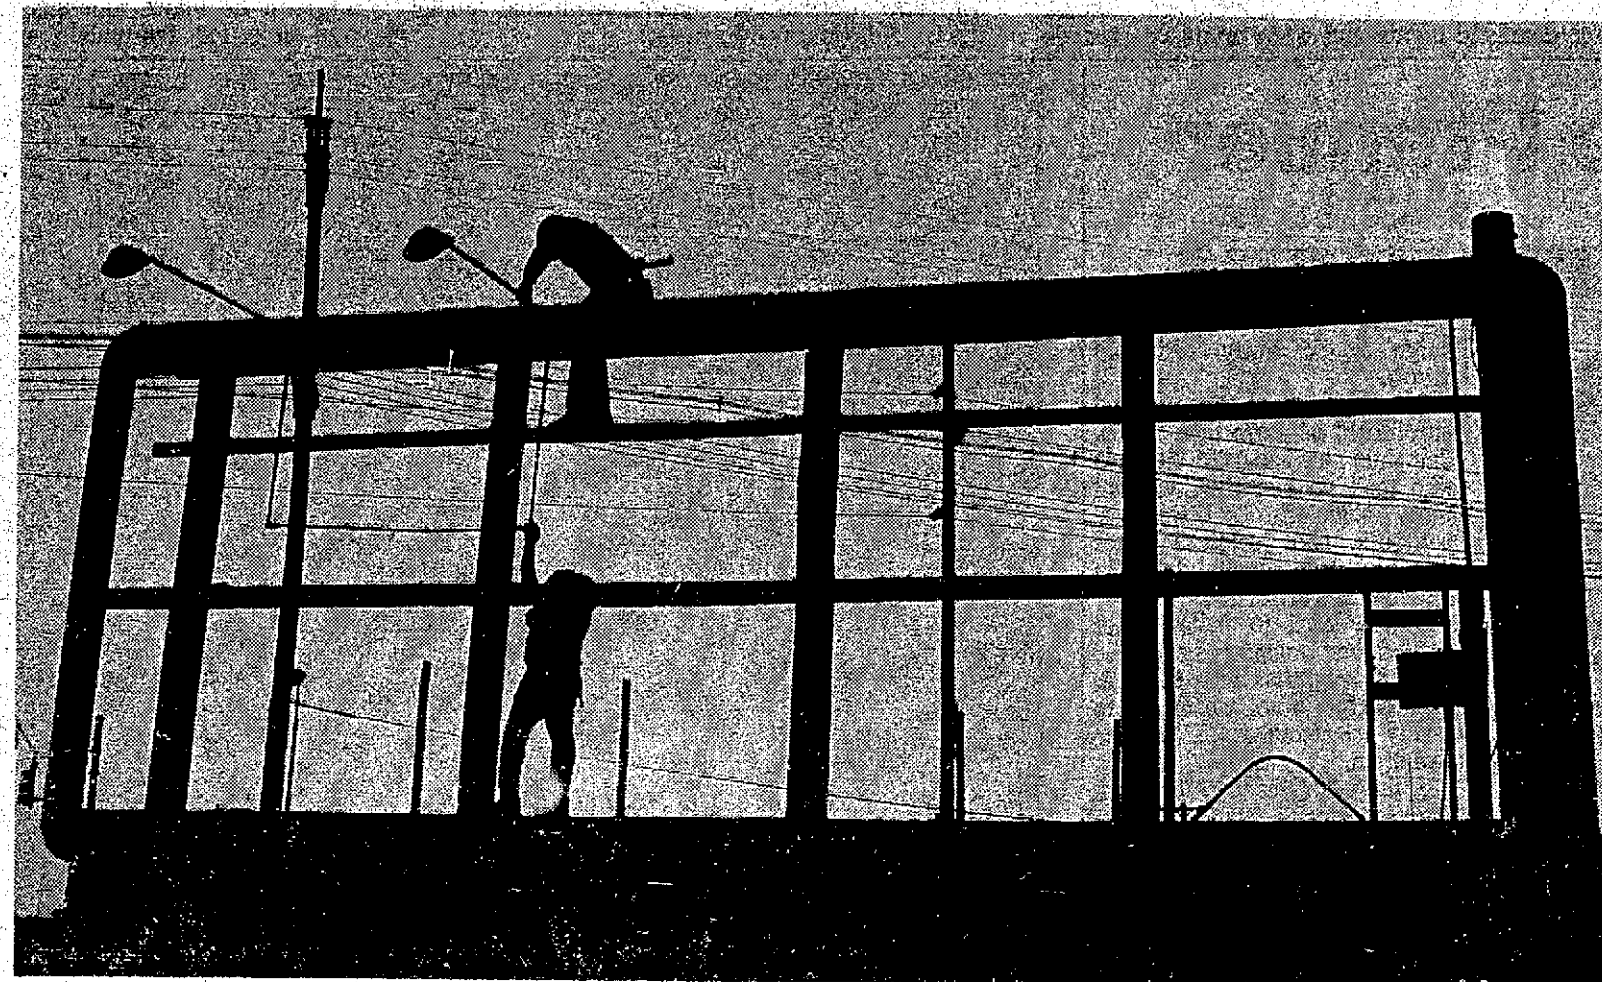

"The acquisition of the latest Soviet warplanes is not likely to make President Sadat any more flexible in his dealings with Israel," said the Daily Haaretz.

It added that "Washington cannot remain indifferent either" because, the paper said, the MIG23 supply will affect the U.S. military posture in the Middle East.

U.S. Checks Carefully

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States is keeping a careful check on the increased Soviet arms shipments to Egypt in order to determine their effect on the military balance between Egypt and Israel.

At the same time, a U.S. statement linked the Soviet shipments to a lack of "progress toward peace negotiations, with the implication the Nixon administration wants Israel to take new steps to try and open up more active exchanges through U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring.

Council OKs Mobile Home Court

. . . PROJECT OPPOSED BY CITY PLANNING OFFICIALS

By TOM EKVALL

Star Staff Writer

A 167-space mobile home court on land zoned for industrial use was approved by the City Council Monday with Councilman Dick Hartsock casting the lone negative vote.

Sam Zolot had requested a special permit to build the mobile home court on approximately 30 acres in the vicinity of 27th and Salem Ave.

The council had earlier adopted a mobile home court ordinance designed to encourage location of homes in residential areas and get the courts out of the industrial areas.

Still Permitted

Joe Ginsburg, an attorney representing Zolot, said he thought that mobile home courts still are permitted in industrial areas, adding that there are several others in the area.

Both the Planning Commission and Planning Department had recommended denial of the project.

The commission said it was of the opinion that the character of the surrounding lands is not satisfactory for a mobile home court, with particular reference to an auto salvage yard immediately to the south.

Planning Director Doug Brogden told council members he recommended denial on the grounds that the development proposed to use a private lagoon for its sewage treatment.

Brogden said the use of lagoons throughout the city should be discouraged, adding that other cities have encountered problems where having a proliferation of the lagoons.

The majority of the council, after considerable discussion of the sewage treatment issue, agreed to allow the lagoon since the lagoon would be only temporary until city service is provided.

Public Utilities Director Lee Blocker said construction of the sanitary sewer lines is included in the 1971-72 capital improvements program.

Hartsock said he felt there were too many problems, notably the sewage one, at the present time to approve the project now.

Councilman Tom Allman responded the problems are mechanical ones which should not hold up council approval since the applicants have agreed to meet all city requirements.

Financially Troubled Airlines Receive OK To Raise Fares

Washington (UPI) — The nation's financially ailing airlines won permission Monday to impose fare increases that could cost consumers an extra $400 million over the next 12 months, depending upon the volume of air travel.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), with two of its five members dissenting in part, authorized an immediate 6% hike in coach fares and gave tentative approval for an additional 3% boost in 50 days if no objections are filed before then.

The rise in coach fares means first class, military and youth fares will go up automatically as well since all are tied together under a formula. First class prices are 130% of those for coach tickets, with military fares 50% and youth fares two-thirds of the coach price.

20,000 'Roll' Eggs

Washington (UPI) — The White House swung open its heavy iron gates and more than 20,000 children and their parents poured in for the annual Easter egg roll on the south lawn.

CAB Chairman Secor D. Browne estimated that the two-step increase would bring the airlines at least $115 million a year in additional revenues and might generate as much as $400 million annually if passenger traffic is heavy.

For example, the present Detroit to Miami coach fare will go up from $81 to $86, the Atlanta to Memphis fare will rise from $32 to $34 and that from Indianapolis to Washington will climb from $44 to $45.

The higher ticket prices are expected to go into effect in about three weeks. The airlines are required to give 21 days notice after filing their new prices with the CAB.

Intense Investigation The board's decision was the first stage of an intense investigation into the airline fare structure. The CAB is likely to take action on other fares including discount and "joint" or inter-airline fares — later this year.

The nation's airlines had asked for increases ranging from 12 to 27% this year. They registered combined losses of $185 million last year despite fare hikes of 10% and 6% in 1969 and 3% in 1970.

The airlines have blamed their deficits on spiraling operating costs and a virtual standstill in the volume of ticket sales. The Air Transport Association, a trade organization representing the major carriers, has reported that traffic increased by only 1% last year in contrast to 1969's 10% climb.

"We cannot emphasize too strongly that the carriers' salvation lies primarily in cutting costs, adjusting capacity to meet demands and getting paying passengers in a higher proportion to their seats, rather than these fare increases," they said.

1,000 Jews Said Allowed To Leave Russia In March

Moscow (AP) — More than 1,000 Jews were given permission to leave the Soviet Union for Israel in March, a knowledgeable source reported Monday.

The number of emigration permits, he said, exceeds the total of around 1,000 issued in all of 1970.

Soviet spokesmen and The Netherlands Embassy, which handles Israeli affairs in Moscow, declined to confirm the figures or give any emigration count.

Gov. Exon Says Inflation May Force Tax Hike During His Term

By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer

After a two-year period of reassessing programs and priorities, Gov. J. James Exon said Monday, state government may need "some kind of a tax increase" during the last half of his four-year term.

"The key factor is likely to be inflation," Exon said in a wide-ranging Statehouse interview as he approaches his 100th day in office on Friday.

"If it continues, even with some of the cuts we hope can be made in state spending, some kind of a tax increase might have to be made two years from now."

Pledged To Hold Line

Exon has pledged to hold taxes at a level of 2½% sales and 13% personal income during the first biennium of his administration.

"But I want to be thoroughly realistic and thoroughly honest with the people as we assess the future."

"Sure there are some political dangers" in the prospect of raising tax levels during the final two years of his term when he is closest to a possible bid for re-election, the governor admitted.

Four-Year View

"But I hope the people will view this administration over the four-year period and I think they will find that I will be doing and recommending things I think must be done regardless of the political consequences."

Exon said he is not ready to consider whether he is a candidate for re-election in 1974 — "It's much too early for that" — but he "will continue to call the shots as I see them after listening to as many Nebraskans as I can."

What Nebraska needs now, he said, is "a period of reassessment."

The Exon administration is prepared to "put together a rather detailed plan on where we're going after consultation with people from all walks of life and from all segments of the economy," the governor said.

Draw Up Blueprint

"We will draw up some kind of blueprint for intelligent spending and show here the money is going and for what purpose."

"I have been criticized in some quarters for my resolute stand against increasing taxes now. But I basically think we can do a better job of running state government by a period of reflection, and an assessment of the future at this time without a tax increase."

Despite criticism, Exon noted, he has recommended "the biggest budget in the history of the state," one whose general fund appropriations would be hiked by $16 million in the coming biennium.

"My point is — that's enough," he said.

Mail Still Heavy

Sipping on a cup of coffee, Exon said he is looking ahead to the possibility of shifting some state welfare funds to the support of post-high school education throughout the state if and when the federal government assumes the full costs of a proposed national welfare system.

"We intend to do more in the field of post-high school education," the governor said.

"Nebraska has not done well in the support of its vocational schools. It has not done well in support of the four state colleges."

Would Allow Shift

"If the federal government takes over the welfare program, as we hope, and thereby relieves our budget to a considerable extent, it would allow us to shift some of those funds into education, including our excellent university system."

Welfare costs are perhaps the major fiscal problem facing the state, Exon said, and it is complicated by "the fact that the states are virtual slaves to the federal government in the amount of payments made to recipients."

While the period of reassessment which he wants underway, the governor said, he will guard against new spending programs.

Will Take Up Battle

For instance, if he loses his bill to exempt food purchases from the sales tax, Exon said, he "will take up the battle to attempt to protect the $4 million I provided to go back to the people in the form of reduced taxes from the spenders."

If the bill dies, the state would receive more than $4 million in additional revenue not anticipated in the governor's budget — unless Exon switches his support to an increased food tax credit.

Would he do so? "I'm not prepared to say," the governor replied.

Ph. 473-3441—Adv.

Exon said he is "a little alarmed to see so many people dedicated to searching for places to spend money without a corresponding attitude to find ways we can trim fat and look for ways to improve efficiency."

About The Same

Although his fiscal 1971-73 budget recommendations were bound to his campaign tax commitments, the governor said, his budget could have been about the same size even if he had no tax pledge to keep.

"Interestingly enough, when we totaled up our budget after pruning where we felt it could be pruned without any loss of essential services, those figures came amazingly close to the total projections made in the revenue attainable under our tax limits," Exon said.

"We hope to prove Nebraska can be moved and can progress . . . without tremendous increases in taxpayer expenditures."

Autopsy Reports W. Young Died From Drowning

New York (AP) — The National Urban League released the report of an autopsy Monday which showed that Whitney Young, its former executive director, died as a result of drowning.

Dr. Milton Helfern, the city's chief medical examiner, said the autopsy he performed at the request of Young's family contradicted the finding of an autopsy performed in Lagos, Nigeria, that a subarachnoid hemorrhage was the cause of death.

Young, 49, died while swimming at Lagos, Nigeria, last March 11. He was there attending a conference on Afro-American affairs with former attorney general Ramsey Clark and others, who vainly gave Young artificial respiration after they noticed him foundering in the surf.

His mail is still heavy after three months in office, the shirt-sleeved chief executive said, and it's generally "running about 7 to 1 in support of our policies."

Sipping on a cup of coffee, Exon said he is looking ahead to the possibility of shifting some state welfare funds to the support of post-high school education throughout the state if and when the federal government assumes the full costs of a proposed national welfare system.

"We intend to do more in the field of post-high school education," the governor said.

"Nebraska has not done well in the support of its vocational schools. It has not done well in support of the four state colleges."

Would Allow Shift

"If the federal government takes over the welfare program, as we hope, and thereby relieves our budget to a considerable extent, it would allow us to shift some of those funds into education, including our excellent university system."

Welfare costs are perhaps the major fiscal problem facing the state, Exon said, and it is complicated by "the fact that the states are virtual slaves to the federal government in the amount of payments made to recipients."

While the period of reassessment which he wants is underway, the governor said, he will guard against new spending programs.

'Will Take Up Battle'

For instance, if he loses his bill to exempt food purchases from the sales tax, Exon said, he "will take up the battle to attempt to protect the $4 million I provided to go back to the people in the form of reduced taxes from the spenders."

If the bill dies, the state would receive more than $4 million in additional revenue not anticipated in the governor's budget — unless Exon switches his support to an increased food tax credit.

Would he do so? "I'm not prepared to say," the governor replied.

Exon said he is "a little alarmed to see so many people dedicated to searching for places to spend money without a corresponding attitude to find ways we can trim fat and look for ways to improve efficiency."

About The Same

Although his fiscal 1971-73 budget recommendations were bound to his campaign tax commitments, the governor said, his budget could have been about the same size even if he had no tax pledge to keep.

"Interestingly enough, when we totaled up our budget after pruning where we felt it could be pruned without any loss of essential services, those figures came amazingly close to the total projections made in the revenue attainable under our tax limits," Exon said.

"We hope to prove Nebraska can be moved and can progress . . . without tremendous increases in taxpayer expenditures."

Following the announcement of the verdict in federal court, Poindexter said his trial was only a skirmish and that the real war was in California where Miss Davis is being tried.

Newark Faces Decision

Newark, N.J. — Newark Police Director John L. Redden, whose resignation was demanded by a group of black militants last week, said it was time for the public and city officials to decide on a course to save the city. Redden warned that the tensions in Newark could lead to a repetition of the 1967 riot.

Merrill Lynch To Go Public

New York — Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., one of Wall Street's most important brokerage houses, announced plans to make a public offering of its own stock. The unprecedented move is expected to produce about $120 million for the concern and is expected to make Merrill Lynch even more important than it already is.

Red Chinese Premier To Meet Americans

By JOHN RODERICK

Peking (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai will meet the members of the U.S. table tennis team in a goodwill gesture toward the Americans, they were informed Tuesday.

The 15-member U.S. delegation visited the Great Wall of China on Monday, and their smiling Chinese hosts seemed bent on making a success of this venture in people-to-people diplomacy after a 22-year deep freeze in U.S.-Chinese relations.

The Americans are to meet Chou on Wednesday. They were excited at the chance of talking with the premier.

Practice They were told of the planned meeting with Chou on Tuesday morning before they left to practice for exhibition matches against Chinese players. The stadium matches are expected to attract a capacity crowd of 20,000 spectators.

The Great Wall was designed to protect China from enemies to the north and at its zenith stretched more than 1,500 miles across northern China.

The original sections were built about 2,400 years ago. Emperor Chin Shih Huang Ti built new sections and connected its fortifications to form the Great Wall. It underwent changes later and sections built around 400 years ago are 30 feet high. It has elevated roadways broad enough to allow a column of troops to pass.

Observed John Tannehill, a player from Middleport, Ohio: "It's just not needed any more. It's a museum piece. Of course the Chinese need it as a reminder of their ancient culture."

In U.S., It'd Be Littered Said Mrs. Errol Resek of New York City: "If this had been in the United States it would have been a great tourist attraction and it would be mutilated and cheapened by discarded paper and garbage."

On their first full day of sightseeing the Americans also toured Chinghua University.

A Westerner living in Peking said the Chinghua visit was the most open ever conducted for visiting foreigners. He called it fuller and franker than the one made by former French foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville last October.

Scene of a bitter struggle among factions during the cultural revolution it reopened only six months ago after having been immobilized since 1967.

Stone Lion Gone An overturned stone lion at the gate bore mute witness to the violence of the confrontation. It was destroyed in the campaign to do away with old things.

Cut down from its original enrollment of more than 20,000, Chinghua now has 2,800 students who took no examinations but were selected by workers, peasants and soldiers after they had done manual labor in the factories or farms.

It was hard to believe that only a few months ago these girls in pigtails and boys in nondescript blue cotton were shrilly denouncing U.S. imperialism.

If they had been Albanians, the Americans couldn't have been treated with more courtesy or friendliness. Given the fact that the Albanians have never wavered as China's tiny East European ally, that is saying a great deal. The Americans responded with close attention and questioning.

A shy former jet propulsion expert at California Institute of Technology was the focus of interest at the university.

Chen Returned Chen Wei-chang, who returned to China in 1946 after teaching in the United States, described how students criticized his teaching methods during the cultural revolution and said: "My eyes were opened."

At the university's automotive college, Steenhoven drove a July 27 truck, named after the day the cultural revolution got off the ground there in 1968.

The Americans looked at machine tools, the electronics factory and the library.

Team Captain Jack Howard, 38, of Seattle, Wash., a computer programmer, looked at a student-made computer and said: "It is a remarkable achievement. Very few students can build a computer."

Friendliness The Americans were impressed with what they saw and by the friendliness of the Chinese.

Tannehill said Chairman Mao Tse-tung was "the greatest moral and intellectual leader in the world today" because "he reaches most of the people. His philosophy is beautiful."

Other members of the team — the first U.S. delegation ever to come to Red China — were not quite so emphatic but their enthusiasm for this nation of 720 million people was unmistakable.

U.S. Trip Offered
From Red China

New York (UPI) — Brook's Mendell, head of an organization called "People-For-People," offered Monday to underwrite a tour of the United States by Communist China's table tennis team.

Mendell, whose organization fosters better understanding between nations, sent a telegram to the leader of the U.S. table tennis team which currently is touring mainland China. He offered to pay the expenses of the world champion Chinese Ping-Pong players.

Mendell also told U.S. tennis team officials, Graham B. Steenhoven and Rufford Harrison, that he will undertake to raise funds for the U.S. team to establish and organize a system that would develop young players and better prepare American Ping-Pongers for still international competition.

Youths Demonstrate

Sydney, Australia (UPI) — More than 400 youths demonstrated at the opening performance of the Moscow State Circus to protest treatment of Russian Jews in the Soviet Union. The youths, mostly teen-agers, distributed leaflets seeking aid for Jews wanting to leave the Soviet Union and handed out balloons marked "Free Soviet Jews" and "free our people."

Chou Pledges To Support
Pakistan If Indians Attack

New Delhi, India (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai of Red China has pledged his nation's support to Pakistan against attack by "Indian expansionists," Radio Pakistan said Monday.

Chou's message to President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan followed a strong Chinese note to New Delhi last Tuesday claiming India was interfering in the civil war raging in East Pakistan.

Chou's message said China had noted the Indian government recently had been carrying out large-scale interference in Pakistan's internal affairs.

Support Not Described Without specifying what kind of support would be given, the radio quoted Chou as saying: "Should the Indian expansionists dare to launch aggression against Pakistan, the Chinese government and people will as always support the Pakistani government and people in their just struggle to safeguard the state's integrity and national independence."

Chou said the civil war in East Pakistan is an internal affair that can only be settled by the Pakistani people without outside interference.

In the Indian-Pakistan war of September 1965 China issued a similar warning telling India not to open a second front in East Pakistan.

Earlier Monday, India vehemently denied a Pakistani charge that two companies of Indian troops entered East Pakistan. Pakistan claimed the Indian forces were wiped out.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the report, broadcast by Pakistan Sunday, was "false, baseless and mischievous."

Pakistan also asserted that three Indian soldiers had been captured. The Foreign Ministry declared they were Indian border security forces — Sepoys — and that they were kidnapped.

The Foreign Ministry identified two of the men as Mohan Lal and Pancha Ram — the same names that Radio Pakistan had used for two of the men it said it had captured.

Officials said the halt in food aid, involving wheat not yet shipped, will be effective Tuesday.

"The termination of current deliveries has been deemed necessary because of the current situation in East Pakistan and the resultant congestion in East Pakistan ports," the announcement said.

The announcement said purchase authorizations for wheat will be reissued "when the ports have been cleared and grain can be offloaded and distributed in East Pakistan."

Pro-Business
Tax Break Hit

Washington (AP) — A former chief of White House economic advisers said Monday President Nixon's multibillion-dollar tax break for business could be inflationary, would actually hurt investment in the near future and should be withdrawn.

"This looks to me like the wrong tax cut in the wrong way at the wrong time," said Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President John F. Kennedy.

Doubts about the legality of the plan "will have a chilling effect on investment plans, thereby reducing the economic impact of these proposals," Heller said.

Cost $36 Billion He joined a well-coordinated chorus of opposition to Nixon's proposal to speed up tax writeoffs for depreciating equipment at a 20% faster pace, a system that could cost the Treasury $36 billion over the next 10 years.

The opposition is led by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, Democratic Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George McGovern of South Dakota, a public-interest tax lobby called Taxation With Representation, several private economists and some union leaders.

Heller, now a professor at the University of Minnesota, said the proposal will cause no big rush to accelerate investments and will take a long time to achieve its stated purpose of stimulating the economy.

To Bursting Point "Indeed, after starting out slowly, the plan would reach its peak in revenue loss and economic thrust just about the time that demand inflation will again confront us," he said in a statement.

Heller's position was announced as the Nixon administration prepared to release on Tuesday its third "inflation alert," a White House exposition on wage and price movements.

Instead of Nixon's depreciation plan, Heller favors reinstating the 7% investment tax credit.

Nixon announced the new depreciation changes early in the year, and administration officials have said they will go into effect basically unchanged despite a May 3 public hearing on the proposals.

The opponents are attempting to force the administration to withdraw the regulations, submit them to Congress and try some other route to boost the economy. Nader announced plans last week to launch a legal attack against the move.

Critics say Nixon abused his power by failing to offer legislation to carry out the new depreciation plan. Treasury officials contend Nixon has the authority.

TV's 'Hamlet' Receives
13 Emmy Nominations

Hollywood (AP) — "Hamlet" leads with 13 Emmy nominations, the television academy announced Monday.

Second place is a tie at nine each between the four-hour "Vanished" and the since-cancelled "The Senator" segments of the series "The Bold Ones."

Other high scorers include the Mary Tyler Moore Show with six; "All in the Family," a controversial comedy series about bigotry, with seven, and the Flip Wilson Show with six.

The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences statuette for 1970-71 programming achievement will be presented at the 23rd annual Emmy awards show to be televised nationally May 9 from Hollywood.

Richard Chamberlain, TV's former Dr. Kildare, starred in the Nov. 17 Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation of "Hamlet," but he was not nominated as best actor. Nor was playwright William Shakespeare mentioned, although John Barton's adaptation was cited.

Both the Shakespearean classic and "Vanished" were nominated as outstanding single program. In the latter, an adaptation of Fletcher Knebel's best seller, Richard Widmark was mentioned for his performance as the U.S. president.

The nine nominations for "Vanished" were among 20 for NBC's "World Premiere" series. In this group category, Hallmark Hall of Fame was second with 19: The 13 for "Hamlet" and six for "The Price." The Arthur Miller play brought an acting nomination to George C. Scott, who tried to turn down his Oscar nomination for "Patton."

Comedy Stars "All in the Family" was nominated as outstanding comedy series, with mentions also of its stars, Carroll O'Connor and Jean Stapleton.

"Marcus Welby, M.D." was cited, along with its stars, Robert Young, James Brolin and Elena Verdugo.

Outstanding comedy series nominations were for "All in the Family," "Arnie," "Love, American Style," the Mary Tyler Moore Show and "The Odd Couple."

For outstanding series: "The First Churchills," Masterpiece Theatre, Public Broadcasting Service; "Ironside," NET Playhouse; "Marcus Welby, M.D.," and "The Senator" on "The Bold Ones."

Dick Cavett's, David Frost's and Johnny Carson's shows were nominated as outstanding variety-talk series, edging out rival Merv Griffin's.

Composer Burt Bacharach scored twice for "Another Evening with Burt Bacharach" on the Kraft Music Hall las. July 29 and "The Burt Bacharach Special" March 14.

U.S. Trip Offered Ping-Pong Team From Red China

New York (UPI) — Brooks Mendell, head of an organization called "People-For-People," offered Monday to underwrite a tour of the United States by Communist China's table tennis team.

Mendell, whose organization fosters better understanding between nations, sent a telegram to the leader of the U.S. table tennis team which currently is touring mainland China. He offered to pay the expenses of the world champion Chinese Ping-Pong players.

Mendell also told U.S. tennis team officials, Graham B. Steenhoven and Rufford Harrison, that he will undertake to raise funds for the U.S. team to establish and organize a system that would develop young players and better prepare American Ping-Pongers for still international competition.

Youths Demonstrate

Sydney, Australia (UPI) — More than 400 youths demonstrated at the opening performance of the Moscow State Circus to protest treatment of Russian Jews in the Soviet Union. The youths, mostly teen-agers, distributed leaflets seeking aid for Jews wanting to leave the Soviet Union and handed out balloons marked "Free Soviet Jews" and "Free our people."

Extra Hours OK'd

Washington (UPI) — Eastern Air Lines pilots agreed to fly extra hours beyond their union contract requirements to help ease the airline's financial problems.

Pro-Business Tax Break Hit

Washington (AP) — A former chief of White House economic advisers said Monday President Nixon's multibillion-dollar tax break for business could be inflationary, would actually hurt investment in the near future and should be withdrawn.

"This looks to me like the wrong tax cut in the wrong way at the wrong time," said Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President John F. Kennedy.

Doubts about the legality of the plan "will have a chilling effect on investment plans, thereby reducing the economic impact of these proposals," Heller said.

Cost $36 Billion

He joined a well-coordinated chorus of opposition to Nixon's proposal to speed up tax writeoffs for depreciating equipment at a 20% faster pace, a system that could cost the Treasury $36 billion over the next 10 years.

The opposition is led by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, Democratic Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George McGovern of South Dakota, a public-interest tax lobby called Taxation With Representation, several private economists and some union leaders.

Heller, now a professor at the University of Minnesota, said the proposal will cause no big rush to accelerate investments and will take a long time to achieve its stated purpose of stimulating the economy.

To Bursting Point

"Indeed, after starting out slowly, the plan would reach its peak in revenue loss and economic thrust just about the time that demand inflation will again confront us," he said in a statement.

Heller's position was announced as the Nixon administration prepared to release on Tuesday its third "inflation alert," a White House exposition on wage and price movements.

Instead of Nixon's depreciation plan, Heller favors reinstating the 7% investment tax credit.

Nixon announced the new depreciation changes early in the year, and administration officials have said they will go into effect basically unchanged despite a May 3 public hearing on the proposals.

The opponents are attempting to force the administration to withdraw the regulations, submit them to Congress and try some other route to boost the economy. Nader announced plans last week to launch a legal attack against the move.

Critics say Nixon abused his power by failing to offer legislation to carry out the new depreciation plan. Treasury officials contend Nixon has the authority.

Poindexter Takes The Witness Stand

... DENIES ANY GUILT

Omaha (UPI) — Edward Poindexter took the witness stand in Douglas County District Court Monday and denied he had anything to do with the slaying of Omaha Patrolman Larry Minard last August.

Poindexter, 26, and another black militant, David Rice, 23, are charged with first-degree murder in connection with the explosion of a dynamite-laden suitcase which killed Minard and injured several other officers as they responded to a phony distress call in a vacant house.

With the consent of his court-appointed attorney, public defender Frank Morrison, Poindexter took the stand and told the court "I think I was unjustly accused a crime that I had nothing to do with."

Answer Is 'No'

Asked by Morrison if he knew Minard, or had any reason to kill him, his answer both times was "no."

He also denied ever seeing the "contraption" that killed Minard.

Morrison referred several times to testimony by the prosecution's key witness, 16-year-old Duane Peak, who spent two days on the stand last week describing the events leading up to the explosion around 2 a.m. Aug. 17. Poindexter labeled all of Peak's testimony implicating him in the plot as "false."

Poindexter identified three exhibits as articles of clothing he had worn at the time of his arrest, but said he had no idea how traces of dynamite were found on the clothing. He said it was possible they may have come from a friend, Robert Cecil, who "bummed" cigarettes from him. Traces of dynamite were found by police on Cecil's hand, who was arrested after the explosion but later released.

Poindexter also described his position as deputy captain of the Nebraska Committee to Combat Fascism, a black militant group. He said the group's policy was often critical of police, but said he did not approve of violence except in cases of self-defense. However, he called police "tools of a power structure to control and subjugate people."

On cross-examination, Poindexter told special prosecutor Arthur O'Leary he was at a party the night of Aug. 14, and not at the Legion Club. Peak earlier had testified Poindexter told him at the Legion Club the details of fashioning the bomb, and that he and Poindexter later went to the house of Peak's cousins, Frank and William Peak, and made the device.

He said he "got drunk" at the party, and when he woke up, "everybody was gone."

That portion of his testimony corroborated with testimony given earlier in the day by Frank and William Peak.

Among others testifying as the defense opened its portion of the case Monday, the third week of the trial, was Linda Walker of New York City, who said she was with Poindexter the night of the bombing.

Roosevelt McCoy told the court he was at the house of Willie Haynie with a girlfriend that night, and was later in the car which dropped Peak off at the vacant house.

Russell Peak, another of Duane's cousins, told the court how Duane had told him how to build a bomb in a suitcase. Another witness, Raleigh House, told the court he did not recall taking Peak and the suitcase to Rice's house a few days prior to the bombing, as Peak had testified earlier.

Kotouc Attorney Says Immunity To Be Sought

St. McPherson, Ga. (UPI) — Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc, charged with maiming a Viet Cong suspect, will seek immunity from prosecution on the basis of his testimony at the trial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., his attorney said Monday.

Kotouc, 26, a native of Humboldt, Neb., faces a pre-trial hearing here Tuesday on the maiming charges which allege that he cut off part of one finger of a suspect during interrogation a few hours after the My Lai massacre and that he cut a suspect on the neck with a knife.

Although the incidents were not directly related to the celebrated My Lai case, Kotouc was called to testify in the Calley trial as the intelligence officer who briefed Calley's command before it swept through the Vietnamese village March 16, 1968.

Capt. Norman G. Cooper, one of the two military attorneys for Kotouc, said the immunity motion would be one of four submitted by the defense.

Cooper said Kotouc was granted immunity from prosecution in the Calley court-martial and "We contend if (the immunity grant) would bar testimony about any of the offenses" Kotouc was alleged to have committed.

He said that although Kotouc didn't testify specifically about those incidents, his defense attorneys felt the immunity grant ought to be extended to cover them.

Cooper said they also would file motions for dismissal of the case on grounds Kotouc had been denied a right to a speedy trial and that publicity and "command influence" barred a fair trial.

He said he expected the motions to be disposed of quickly by the military judge, Col. Madison Wright. The selection of a jury to hear the case probably will begin Wednesday if the motion is denied.

A tentative date of April 26 has been set for the start of Kotouc's court-martial.

Group Is Considering Salem Bank Takeover

By The Associated Press
State Banking Director Henry Ley said Monday a group of persons from "close around" Salem is considering the possibility of attempting to take over the Bank of Salem in Salem and make the bank "whole."

The bank was declared insolvent April 5 by the banking department after an audit of the bank's books. It had earlier been

"taken over" by the State Banking Department after a routine audit turned up some irregularities.

According to Nebraska statutes, Ley explained, after a bank is declared insolvent, there is a 10-day period in which directors or stockholders can "make it whole again."

The 10 days will be up April 15, he said.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), which underwrites deposits of up to $20,000, has already begun to pay off depositors, deciding not to wait out the 10-day period after Ley's declaration.

John Allee, 29, the bank's former president, has been arraigned in Richardson County Court on charges of embezzlement in an incident discovered by Ley's audit but not related to the bank's closing.

Valmont Reports Quarterly Rise In Net Earnings

Valley (AP) — Valmont Industries, Inc., manufacturer of street lighting equipment and irrigation equipment, realized first quarter net earnings of $202,200 compared with $174,833 a year ago, stockholders were told Monday.

The earnings were 11 cents per share compared with 10 cents per share in the same period a year ago, but 1970 six cents of the earnings came from a special licensing agreement and the sale of production equipment. This year only two cents of the per share earnings came from a comparable extraordinary item.

Net sales for the first quarter of 1971 were $4,426,654 compared with $4,059,468 in the first quarter of 1970.

Valmont has 1,799,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

Grant Approved For New Park

State Game Commission Director Willard Barbee says approval for a federal grant has been given to assist the city of Aurora in buying and developing land for a city park.

Federal money from the land and water conservation fund will cover half the estimated $33,000 cost, the commission said, with the state paying 25% and the city paying the remainder.

The project consists of buying seven acres of land at the south edge of the city adjacent to Nebraska Highway 14 and developing it with a baseball field, restrooms, interior roads, parking lots and picnic and playground facilities.

Bizzett Receives A Life Sentence In Beating Death

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — Darrell E. Bizzett, 22, of Sioux City, was sentenced Monday in District Court here to life term at the State Penitentiary in Ft. Madison on a charge of first degree murder.

The mandatory sentence was issued by Judge C. F. Stillwill. Bizzett was found guilty Feb. 24 in the beating death last Sept. 1 of Dr. Robert Stukel Jr., a Bloomfield, Neb., veterinarian.

Dr. Stukel was found beaten in a school playground. He died a few hours later.

Prospects Good For Nebraska's Winter Wheat

Prospects are reported good for Nebraska's winter wheat crop, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said Monday.

The division's weekly crop report said the crop is greening and the winter kill was minimal. Strong winds during the week caused limited damage to the crop in some areas.

Topsoil moisture is reported down in about 20% of the state but is said to be adequate throughout the rest of Nebraska.

Alfalfa and wild hay crops are reported having good to fair prospects.

Sugar beet plantings were reported last week and the crop is said to be 25% planted in some areas.

Crops Plowed

Des Moines (UPI) — More than half of the 1971 crop acreage in Iowa has been plowed, according to the weekly crop report issued by the National Weather Service.

Due to continued low humidities and lack of moisture, the hazard was expected to continue to be high through Tuesday.

Kotouc Attorney Says Immunity To Be Sought

Ft. McPherson, Ga. (UPI) — Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc, charged with maiming a Viet Cong suspect, will seek immunity from prosecution on the basis of his testimony at the trial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., his attorney said Monday.

Kotouc, 26, a native of Humboldt, Neb., faces a pre-trial hearing here Tuesday on the maiming charges which allege that he cut off part of one finger of a suspect during interrogation a few hours after the My Lai massacre and that he cut a suspect on the neck with a knife.

Although the incidents were not directly related to the celebrated My Lai case, Kotouc was called to testify in the Calley trial as the intelligence officer who briefed Calley's command before it swept through the Vietnamese village March 16, 1968.

Capt. Norman G. Cooper, one of the two military attorneys for Kotouc, said the immunity motion would be one of four submitted by the defense.

Cooper said Kotouc was granted immunity from prosecution in the Calley court-martial and "We contend it (the immunity grant) would bar testimony about any of the offenses." Kotouc was alleged to have committed.

He said that although Kotouc didn't testify specifically about those incidents, his defense attorneys felt the immunity grant ought to be extended to cover them.

Cooper said they also would file motions for dismissal of the case on grounds Kotouc had been denied a right to a speedy trial and that publicity and "command influence" barred a fair trial.

He said he expected the motions to be disposed of quickly by the military judge, Col. Madison Wright. The selection of a jury to hear the case probably will begin Wednesday if the motion is denied.

A tentative date of April 26 has been set for the start of Kotouc's court-martial.

Motorcyclist Dies In Crash

By The Associated Press

The State Patrol at Norfolk said Monday one of two persons riding on a motorcycle that was in collision with a car a mile east of Wisner on Highway 275 Sunday night died early Monday in Omaha.

Trooper Gerald Sieck of Oakland, who investigated the mishap, said there were two persons riding on the motorcycle and one in the car when the crash occurred. The driver of the car escaped serious injury.

The dead boy was identified as 15-year-old Doug Koester, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Koester of Beemer. The other occupant of the motorcycle was identified as Randy Spangler, 16, of Wisner. He was hospitalized in West Point in serious condition.

The driver of the car was Jim Chace, 21, of Pilger.

Sieck said it was not determined whether Koester or Spangler was operating the motorcycle at the time of the accident. He said the two vehicles, both westbound, had to be pulled apart with a wrecker.

Bizzett Receives A Life Sentence In Beating Death

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — Darrell E. Bizzett, 22, of Sioux City, was sentenced Monday in District Court here to life term at the State Penitentiary in Ft. Madison on a charge of first degree murder.

The mandatory sentence was issued by Judge C. F. Stilwell.

Bizzett was found guilty Feb. 24 in the beating death last Sept. 1 of Dr. Robert Stukel Jr., a Bloomfield, Neb., veterinarian.

Dr. Stukel was found beaten in a school playground. He died a few hours later.

Valmont Reports Quarterly Rise In Net Earnings

Valley (AP) — Valmont Industries, Inc., manufacturer of street lighting equipment and irrigation equipment, realized first quarter net earnings of $202,200 compared with $174,833 a year ago, stockholders were told Monday.

The earnings were 11 cents per share compared with 10 cents per share in the same period a year ago, but 1970 six cents of the earnings came from a special licensing agreement and the sale of production equipment. This year only two cents of the per share earnings came from a comparable extraordinary item.

Net sales for the first quarter of 1971 were $4,426,654 compared with $4,059,468 in the first quarter of 1970.

Valmont has 1,799,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

Grant Approved For New Park

State Game Commission Director Willard Barbee says approval for a federal grant has been given to assist the city of Aurora in buying and developing land for a city park.

Federal money from the land and water conservation fund will cover half the estimated $33,000 cost, the commission said, with the state paying 25% and the city paying the remainder.

The project consists of buying seven acres of land at the south edge of the city adjacent to Nebraska Highway 14 and developing it with a baseball field, restrooms, interior roads, parking lots and picnic and playground facilities.

Prospects Good For Nebraska's Winter Wheat

Prospects are reported good for Nebraska's winter wheat crop, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said Monday.

The division's weekly crop report said the crop is greening and the winter kill was minimal. Strong winds during the week caused limited damage to the crop in some areas.

Topsoil moisture is reported down in about 20% of the state but is said to be adequate throughout the rest of Nebraska.

Alfalfa and wild hay crops are reported having good to fair prospects.

Sugar beet plantings were reported last week and the crop is said to be 25% planted in some areas.

Crops Plowed

Des Moines (UPI) — More than half of the 1971 crop acreage in Iowa has been plowed, according to the weekly crop report issued by the National Weather Service.

Group Is Considering Salem Bank Takeover

By The Associated Press

State Banking Director Henry Ley said Monday a group of persons from "close around" Salem is considering the possibility of attempting to take over the Bank of Salem in Salem and make the bank "whole."

The bank was declared insolvent April 5 by the banking department after an audit of the bank's books. It had earlier been

"taken over" by the State Banking Department after a routine audit turned up some irregularities.

According to Nebraska statutes, Ley explained, after a bank is declared insolvent, there is a 10-day period in which directors or stockholders can "make it whole again."

The 10 days will be up April 15, he said.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), which underwrites deposits of up to $20,000, has already begun to pay off depositors, deciding not to wait out the 10-day period after Ley's declaration.

John Allee, 29, the bank's former president, has been arraigned in Richardson County Court on charges of embezzlement in an incident discovered by Ley's audit but not related to the bank's closing.

Rep. Abner Mikva Is Guest Speaker

Alliance (AP) — Rep. Abner J. Mikva, Illinois Democrat, will address the annual meeting of the Panhandle Rural Electric Membership Association in Alliance Tuesday.

Mikva will discuss the relationship of urban and rural problems.

He is noted for his work on penal reform both in the Illinois State Legislature and Congress.

The Panhandle Rural Electric Membership Association serves a large portion of northwest Nebraska.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Maybe the average citizen couldn't care less but it is an exciting time in the ranks of the Republican party. Outgoing State Chairman Mrs. Lorraine Orr leaves an important vacancy to be filled, from several points of view.

The views, of course, all converge at the end upon the question of the philosophy that will prevail within the formal structure of the party. Mrs. Orr has, in our opinion, done an outstanding job in the post. She has taken a moderate to progressive outlook on affairs and diligently pursued the best interests of the GOP.

We suspect that whoever takes her place will have a tough time filling her shoes. Attention for a successor has centered on Milan Bish, 41-year-old Grand Island farm equipment dealer. Things appeared well greased on behalf of Bish until the Grand Islander all but announced he intended to get rid of Joe Edwards, the party's executive secretary.

Bish was considered agreeable to all elements within the party, even though it was believed that the party at this time was undergoing at least a slight shift to the conservative side.

The wing of the party belonging to former Gov. Norbert Tiemann just couldn't expect to maintain a hold on things with their man having been defeated in a bid for re-election. This was especially true when considering the fact that Tiemann's hold on the party was tenuous to begin with.

Bish is believed to have been pushed by Senator Roman Hruska in the ouster of Edwards, an Orr and Tiemann appointee. Sen. Carl Curtis is considered the more conservative of Nebraska's two senators but Curtis has not pushed for control of the party apparatus, having a strong county-by-county organization of his own.

In answer to the reported Hruska move to get rid of Bish, Lincolnite Carroll Thompson has entered the contest for state party chairman against Bish. This is a move to counter the influence of Hruska and leave the party a little more independent of control from office holders.

Of course, the matter of control per se is not the only issue nor, for that matter, the primary issue. The primary thing at issue is the nature or philosophy of the party.

It will be a party dominated by either the conservative or progressive element within its ranks. At this point, the odds seem to favor the conservatives, represented in the person of Senator Hruska, a moderate only in comparison with his arch-conservative colleague, Senator Curtis.

Thus, you have three elements in the struggle—personalities, philosophy and procedure or structure. The latter, procedure or structure, refers to whether the party is dominated from within its own ranks or by one or more office holders.

Theoretically, it might be better if the party was its own boss but such really seldom happens. The moderates now are opposed to dictation by office holders but they were not so opposed to this idea when Tiemann was in office.

Thus, philosophy still appears as the major consideration in the party struggle shaping up. How great a struggle it will be depends upon the strength that Thompson is able to muster among the 98-member State Central Committee.

Personally, we cannot quite see Thompson coming out a winner but we are not privy to the inner circles of things and can speculate only on the basis of generalities. It is only logical for the party to shift to the right or conservative side at this time.

Tiemann was defeated with Democratic Governor J. James Exon running as a conservative, at least in fiscal matters. And the state budget pretty well determines whether the state is moving conservatively or liberally.

The voting in Nebraska in 1970 was conservative, at least on the surface, and a party likes to be with the majority. This is traditionally the more comfortable position of the GOP, also. If it happens, the state could be without a progressive voice, with each party trying to be more conservative than the other.

Mitchell To Head Nixon's Campaign

WASHINGTON—Attorney General John Mitchell plans to step down from the cabinet, probably in the fall, to take charge of President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Intimates say Mitchell will return to his former law firm, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander, with offices at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue across the street from the White House until the President is ready to announce his candidacy.

Another key member of the President's political team, Murray Chotiner, has already left the White House to take up offices at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue with the Reeves and Harrison law firm one floor directly above the Mudge, Rose offices.

Mitchell will run the campaign from behind the scenes, savantimates, with authority over Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the Republican national chairman.

The attorney general, who is beginning to enjoy the accoutrements of high office, is reluctant to leave the cabinet. He has discussed the possibility of keeping his position and running the campaign out of the Justice Department. As a precedent, he cited evidence that the late Attorney General Robert Kennedy had intended to play both roles in the 1964 campaign if his brother had lived.

But Mitchell already has been accused by Democrats of mixing politics with justice. After he took over the Justice Department, he ordered criminal investigations of several prominent Democrats for alleged election irregularities but showed little interest in investigating Republicans for the same offenses.

Under Mitchell, the Justice Department has obtained indictments against such big-name Democrats as Maryland's ex-Sen. Dan Brewster and San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto.

For the sake of public confidence, therefore, Mitchell has agreed that he should give up the attorney generalship while he plunges into presidential politics.

Rep. Thad Dulski, D-N.Y., veteran chairman of the House Post Office Committee, accepted free plane tickets from the Flying Tiger Line for a 12-day Easter trip to Tokyo. Then at the last minute, he cancelled the trip because of a badly infected throat.

This spared him from a serious conflict of interest. For the airline, heavily dependent upon airmail contracts, has a vested interest in keeping the House Post Office Chairman happy.

Dulski had planned to take his committee counsel, John Martiny, along with him. The official purpose of the trip was to attend an awards ceremony sponsored by the Air Transport Association, whose members do a big business with the Post Office.

The State Department, informed of the trip, alerted its offices along the way to how and scrape for Dulski. "Please meet and render every assistance and courtesy," said a "priority" message, adding understandably: "News media coverage not desired."

Dulski had also intended to visit Hong Kong, Taipei and Saigon, ostensibly to inspect mail facilities, at the taxpayers' expense. But his doctors advised him to "take it easy," and the trip was called off.

'Hope Nobody Taped That Call!'

Final Third Begins

Today, the Legislature returns after a brief Easter recess to begin the last third of its first annual session. It heads into its 61st legislative day with 67% of its life expended and 45% of its 1,019 bills still awaiting final action.

To go beyond the 90-legislative day limit set for sessions in odd-numbered years, four-fifths of the Unicameral membership must so approve; otherwise, unfinished business will lapse into the 60-day 1972 session.

Thus far, the Legislature has enacted into law bills providing for an increase in maximum payments for aid to dependent children recipients, a large new state aid program for construction of municipal waste treatment facilities, a reduction of the required affirmative vote in local bond issues to a simple majority and it has endorsed constitutional amendments (one federal and one state) to lower the voting age in state and local elections to 18.

And while still other measures of major import have been enacted, the bulk of controversial items remains for the Unicameral to resolve. The law-makers face action on spending and taxing proposals — including a bill to provide a 50% tax exemption for personal property — the level of other state aid programs, the future of public employees negotiation rights and reapportionment. Clearly, much is left to do in the 30 legislative days remaining this session.

We were in favor of the constitutional amendment approved by voters last November as far as it pertained to establishing annual sessions of the Legislature, but thought then and still think that the 90 and 60 legislative day time limits are impractical. There would be no alarm on our part if the limits were extended each session in order to complete what was started. But if the lawmakers had seriously intended to use the time limits as guidelines for their work, they might have paced themselves a little better.

It Costs More To Live

Size and assessment figures for the Gateway Shopping Center make for some interesting observations. When its present expansion is completed, Gateway will have some 700,000 square feet of space. It will have an assessment of about $9 million, according to preliminary reports.

That means the assessment figures out at about $11.50 per square foot. This is about where most business properties will run in the tax picture.

On the other hand, a home is likely to be assessed closer to $16.50 per square foot. Thus, business property is likely to have an assessment of $5 a square foot less than residential property.

Maybe this is right, but it does leave you scratching your head and wondering if the home-owner is not paying more than his fair share of things. The explanation is that business construction is generally cheaper per square foot than residential construction.

Being cheaper to build, the business property has a lower assessment. If that is the only criterion that counts in taxation, then there can be little argument with the procedure.

Other things do enter into any assessment but the basic ingredient is construction costs. You take into account, too, replacement costs, market value and either depreciation or appreciation. But a lot of those items tend to cancel one another out, leaving the construction cost as the major factor.

Not taken much into account is the fact that a house is a place to live in and the business property is to make a profit. Should this be more of a factor in things than it is? We wonder if it should not be when you consider the investment that must be made in public services at the taxpayers' expense for business as opposed to residences.

JAMES RESTON

A Stirring Of Hope During This Easter Season That Old Individualism May Reassume Value

WASHINGTON—The Easter parade this year in America was a riot of modern individualism, a costume party, a masquerade ball, and the clowns never looked more gay or carefree or felt worse.

So something is wrong, and the theme of this sermon is that what is wrong is that we have forgotten Easter and kept the parade. We have replaced the old individualism, which came from our religious belief in the sanctity of each individual personality, with the new individualism, which comes from Freud and the garment district in New York City.

Maybe it was a good exchange, but all the chatter about hot pants and the cold war doesn't prove it. The materialism and egotism of the new individualism are often picturesque — the American people have never looked more amusing or interesting than they do today — but the old individualism was something quite different.

It came from the religious idea that each individual was sacred and different, and from the idea, not only that I'm as good as you, which is a modern notion, but that you're as good as I.

This is not an easy doctrine, for it involves humility, generosity, self-criticism, and on top of that, all the faith and hope you can get out of the Easter message of new beginnings and self-renewal.

Is this irrelevant to the modern age? Not if you think about the headlines in the daily newspapers. A government that understood the religious heritage of democracy and honestly believed in the sanctity of human life and the principles of humility, generosity and self-criticism could not possibly talk about "body-counts" or boast about its "superior" casualty record or pronounce such carnage a "success."

What has happened, however, or so it seems here — is that governments have come to believe — sometimes with the approval or at least the acquiescence of famous divines like Billy Graham — that they may suspend the ethical code they require or expect of other individual citizens, and apply the license of nations to pass approving judgment on themselves.

One reason why this is a troubled and unhappy country this Easter — and it is in some ways a hopeful thing — is that despite all the modern individualism and secularism, many men and women reject the idea that governments may defy the moral order of what is right and wrong and substitute some lower standard of collective license.

For many, religion has lost its dogma but at least retained its ethical influence. The outcry to "free Calley" indicates the moral confusion of the age, but underneath these emotional eruptions, there is still a solid foundation of decency in this country.

This is a major factor behind the cry to end the killing in Vietnam. It is not only that we are not "winning" or that the sacrifices are too great, but that there is no longer in the minds of many any moral purpose to the conflict: in short, that it is cruel, pointless and wrong.

It is quite inaccurate to characterize the opponents of the war as "neo-isolationists," as if their challenge to the administration on the war were a form of selfishness and rejection of responsibility.

In fact, what we may very well be seeing now is a new form of involvement in the larger problem of the human family, a wider concern for individual human life, not unlike the old religious idea that the thing that matters more than anything else is human life and decency.

To be fair about this, it is true that many other men and

Lincoln, Neb.

I noted in the April 1 Star that the third draft board member in Nebraska has resigned because of Lt. Calley's conviction. I applaud this—but what are their reasons. "My conscience will not let me continue when the officers and enlisted men are treated in such a manner," said James Heiser, Falls City. Gene McIntyre, Nance County, said he could not sign any more induction orders in light of the treatment Lt. Calley had received from the military tribunal.

I think many of us are upset and disturbed because the military is making an example of Calley.

We are very carefully walking around the real issue. The United States is involved in a war in Southeast Asia. It is sending thousands of young men to be trained to kill; it is putting them in positions where they have to kill or be killed. Why didn't those draft board members resign because they were involved in producing My Lai. We ALL have to take responsibility for that.

KATHY COOK

Oil Interests

Schuyler, Neb.

Are American soldiers and the people of Southeast Asia dying for noble ideas or the black profits of oil?

According to the Wall Street Journal and confirmed in various trade journals, 17 highly sought after leases to drill for oil off the coast of Vietnam will be awarded by the Thieu-Ky government to international petroleum companies, most of which are American.

It is a known fact that war has resulted in vast profiteering for giant monopolies and munitions makers. Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler, commander, U.S. Marine Corps, World War I, said after World War I, the only way war would ever be stopped would be to remove the profit from war. This was after his retirement in November of 1935.

I spent 33 years and four months in active service as a member of our Marine Corps and during that period, I spent most of my time being a high-class muscle man for Big Business, for Wall Street and the bankers. I was rewarded with honors, medals and promotion.

It has long been charged that the Department of State is largely controlled by big oil interests. Those interests are not worth the life of even one of our sons or brothers.

ARLO HOPPE

Gap Widened

Lincoln, Neb.

To "J.E.R." (March 18 Star)—to say that Lincoln would not be the same after "Hair" came is ridiculous. If his children were so upset by seeing the show, they probably missed the point. "Hair" is concerned with youth and their problems. It is for youth by youth. People such as this writer seem to do nothing for the "generation gap" but widen it.

T.L.

Just 'Gooks'

York, Neb.

The public has witnessed a bit of American military efficiency, where women and children were forced into a ditch so that the rapid fire would be more effective. Attention has been focused on the officer in charge.

A court convicted this officer and the public was offended. Undoubtedly in many persons, this reaction is rooted in the psychology which caused a coal baron to dismiss the deaths and crippling of his child employees with: "Hell. They don't suffer. They can't speak English."

Those Vietnamese couldn't speak English. Moreover, they weren't white, not even Christians. Just "gooks."

The next scene in the tragedy has the President of the United States commandeering nationwide television to remind the public that he is the commander-in-chief and that the purpose of the blood-letting is two-fold: to insure the relatives of those dead Vietnamese a free, self-determined government, and to remind all mankind that our military will secure peace in the world even if humanity is liquidated in the process.

FRANK B. STOWE

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Any information pertaining to cobalt 60 and its effects would be appreciated. What can one expect with its treatment? — N.N.

Cobalt 60 — metallic cobalt which has been made radioactive — is considerably misunderstood by people, probably because, for whatever reason, there hasn't been much effort to explain what it is.

Like many other isotopes (radioactive elements), cobalt 60 gives off gamma rays. Gamma rays are the same type of rays given off by an X-ray tube. The difference is that such isotopes give off the rays automatically and continuously, while an X-ray tube gives them off only when the electricity is turned on.

Therefore, X-rays are controlled by turning a switch. Cobalt (or cesium or other such isotope) rays are controlled by enclosing them in a strong, lead-containing box, and the rays are emitted and aimed by opening a sort of "window" in the box.

But the rays are the same. X-ray pictures can be taken with cobalt rays — except that it is cheaper and more convenient to take X-ray plates with relatively low-power X-ray tubes. They produce better detail.

Cobalt and the more powerful X-ray tubes are used for intense X-ray treatments, and the effects are the same.

Whereas either very brief or low power gamma ray (X-ray) exposures have no detectable effects on a person, long exposures do.

By "brief," I mean the fraction of a second needed to take an X-ray picture, or the few seconds needed to treat certain skin conditions or other conditions on the surface of the body.

Deep, intense exposures are a different matter, the most common use being exposure for a matter of minutes, and several times, to destroy a cancer somewhere inside the body.

Such relatively long exposures actually destroy cells — and they destroy cancerous or abnormal cells more rapidly than they do normal tissues. Therefore the aim is to give enough exposure to destroy a cancer while doing comparatively less damage — but still some — to the normal cells through which the rays have to travel.

Thus, for example, a cancer close to the surface may at times be treated with the rays, and the patient experiences no side effects at all.

Yet with another cancer, the exposure may have to be longer and stronger to penetrate deeply enough and in sufficient strength, and then normal cells are damaged to some extent.

Surface X-ray changes can occur and, since rays penetrate, a comparable "burn" or destruction of tissue can occur inside, and this destroyed tissue has to be gradually eliminated by the body.

In certain cases, especially involving cancer, these heavy exposures are absolutely necessary, and the malaise is a price that has to be paid for it. Whether they are X-rays or cobalt rays, they are the same, and act in the same way.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote to Mrs. S.M. that, if a toenail or fingernail was removed surgically or by accident, it would grow again. In 1965 my daughter shut a car door on her finger. The doctor removed her nail at the hospital. She still does not have a fingernail. How do you explain this? — Mrs. J.D.G.

Evidently the nail bed, from which the nail grows, was destroyed, too.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does psoriasis turn into cancer? — Mrs. P.R.

No, it doesn't.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: As a health food, which do you recommend: bread made with white flour or whole wheat flour? We are told today that white flour is enriched. What is it enriched with? Fifty years or so ago this subject was much discussed. These days we hear very little about which flour is used for the so-called staff of life. — D.B.M.

To your opening question, I don't recommend either over the other. It's a matter of which you like best.

The whole wheat idea had considerable merit, years ago, because in refining white flour a good deal of the vitamin and mineral value was lost. What was left was largely carbohydrate.

Enriched bread now usually means that B vitamins have been added — thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin. In some instances iron may be added.

Calling bread "the staff of life" may not be an entirely accurate way of thinking of it. B vitamins are obtained from other sources, chiefly cereals and meats. We need a certain amount of carbohydrate, but it can be obtained from other sources. Hundreds of millions of people use rice rather than bread as a staple.

Perhaps we'd be better off if we thought of a balanced diet as being the real "staff of life"—protein from meat, fish, and eggs plus a few other sources, carbohydrates whether from bread or other sources, vitamins and minerals from fruits and vegetables.

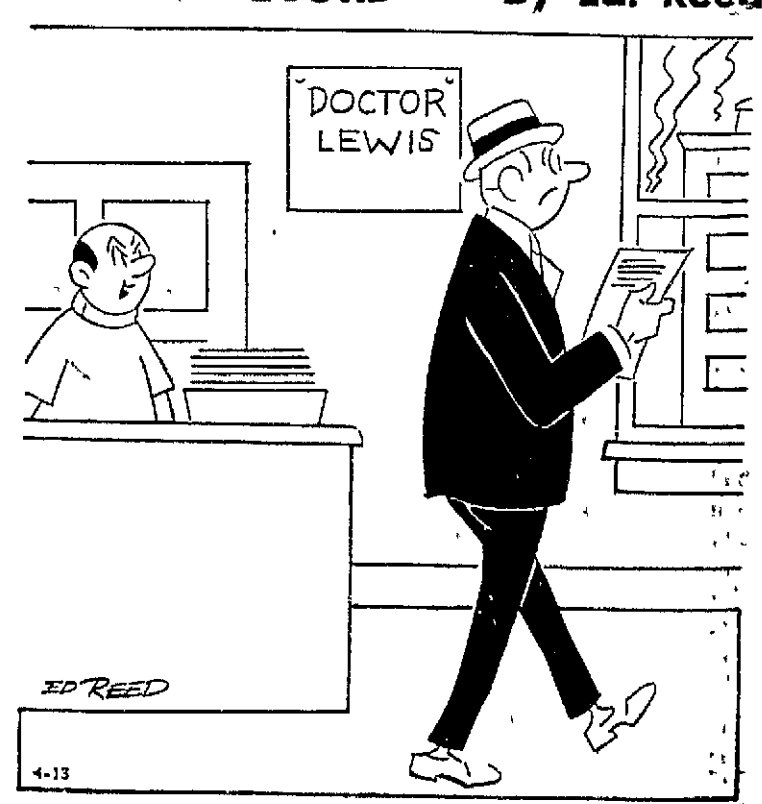

As to what kind of bread you eat, these days it doesn't make a great deal of difference if the rest of your diet is right.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Maybe the average citizen couldn't care less but it is an exciting time in the ranks of the Republican party. Outgoing State Chairman Mrs. Lorraine Orr leaves an important vacancy to be filled, from several points of view.

The views, of course, all converge at the end upon the question of the philosophy that will prevail within the formal structure of the party. Mrs. Orr has, in our opinion, done an outstanding job in the post. She has taken a moderate to progressive outlook on affairs and diligently pursued the best interests of the GOP.

We suspect that whoever takes her place will have a tough time filling her shoes. Attention for a successor has centered on Milan Bish, 41-year-old Grand Island farm equipment dealer. Things appeared well greased on behalf of Bish until the Grand Islander all but announced he intended to get rid of Joe Edwards, the party's executive secretary.

Bish was considered agreeable to all elements within the party, even though it was believed that the party at this time was undergoing at least a slight shift to the conservative side.

The wing of the party belonging to former Gov. Norbert Tiemann just couldn't expect to maintain a hold on things with their man having been defeated in a bid for re-election. This was especially true when considering the fact that Tiemann's hold on the party was tenuous to begin with.

Bish is believed to have been pushed by Senator Roman Hruska in the ouster of Edwards, an Orr and Tiemann appointee. Sen. Carl Curtis is considered the more conservative of Nebraska's two senators but Curtis has not pushed for control of the party apparatus, having a strong county-by-county organization of his own.

In answer to the reported Hruska move to get rid of Bish, Lincolnite Carroll Thompson has entered the contest for state party chairman against Bish. This is a move to counter the influence of Hruska and leave the party a little more independent of control from office holders.

Of course, the matter of control per se is not the only issue nor, for that matter, the primary issue. The primary thing at issue is the nature or philosophy of the party.

It will be a party dominated by either the conservative or progressive element within its ranks. At this point, the odds seem to favor the conservatives, represented in the person of Senator Hruska, a moderate only in comparison with his arch-conservative colleague, Senator Curtis.

Thus, you have three elements in the struggle—personalities, philosophy and procedure or structure. The latter, procedure or structure, refers to whether the party is dominated from within its own ranks or by one or more office holders.

Theoretically, it might be better if the party was its own boss but such really seldom happens. The moderates now are opposed to dictation by office holders but they were not so opposed to this idea when Tiemann was in office.

Thus, philosophy still appears as the major consideration in the party struggle shaping up. How great a struggle it will be depends upon the strength that Thompson is able to muster among the 98-member State Central Committee.

Personally, we cannot quite see Thompson coming out a winner but we are not privy to the inner circles of things and can speculate only on the basis of generalities. It is only logical for the party to shift to the right or conservative side at this time.

Tiemann was defeated with Democratic Governor J. James Exon running as a conservative, at least in fiscal matters. And the state budget pretty well determines whether the state is moving conservatively or liberally.

The voting in Nebraska in 1970 was conservative, at least on the surface, and a party likes to be with the majority. This is traditionally the more comfortable position of the GOP, also. If it happens, the state could be without a progressive voice, with each party trying to be more conservative than the other.

Mitchell To Head Nixon's Campaign

WASHINGTON—Attorney General John Mitchell plans to step down from the cabinet, probably in the fall, to take charge of President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Intimates say Mitchell will return to his former law firm, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander, with offices at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue across the street from the White House until the President is ready to announce his candidacy.

Another key member of the President's political team, Murray Chotiner, has already left the White House to take up offices at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue with the Reeves and Harrison law firm one floor directly above the Mudge, Rose offices.

Mitchell will run the campaign from behind the scenes, say intimates, with authority over Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the Republican national chairman.

The attorney general, who is beginning to enjoy the accoutrements of high office, is reluctant to leave the cabinet. He has discussed the possibility of keeping his position and running the campaign out of the Justice Department. As a precedent, he cited evidence that the late Attorney General Robert Kennedy had intended to play both roles in the 1964 campaign if his brother had lived.

But Mitchell already has been accused by Democrats of mixing politics with justice. After he took over the Justice Department, he ordered criminal investigations of several prominent Democrats for alleged election irregularities but showed little interest in investigating Republicans for the same offenses.

Under Mitchell, the Justice Department has obtained indictments against such big-name Democrats as Maryland's ex-Sen. Dan Brewster and San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto.

For the sake of public confidence, therefore, Mitchell has agreed that he should give up the attorney generalship while he plunges into presidential politics.

Rep. Thad Dulski, D-N.Y., veteran chairman of the House Post Office Committee, accepted free plane tickets from the Flying Tiger Line for a 12-day Easter trip to Tokyo. Then at the last minute, he cancelled the trip because of a badly infected throat.

This spared him from a serious conflict of interest. For the airline, heavily dependent upon airmail contracts, has a vested interest in keeping the House Post Office Chairman happy.

Dulski had planned to take his committee counsel, John Martiny, along with him. The official purpose of the trip was to attend an awards ceremony sponsored by the Air Transport Association, whose members do a big business with the Post Office.

The State Department, informed of the trip, alerted its offices along the way to bow and scrape for Dulski. "Please meet and render every assistance and courtesy," said a "priority" message, adding understandably: "News media coverage not desired."

Dulski had also intended to visit Hong Kong, Taipei and Saigon, ostensibly to inspect mail facilities, at the taxpayers' expense. But his doctors advised him to "take it easy," and the trip was called off.

'Hope Nobody Taped That Call!'

Final Third Begins

Today, the Legislature returns after a brief Easter recess to begin the last third of its first annual session. It heads into its 61st legislative day with 67% of its life expended and 45% of its 1,019 bills still awaiting final action.

To go beyond the 90-legislative day limit set for sessions in odd-numbered years, four-fifths of the Unicameral membership must so approve; otherwise, unfinished business will lapse into the 60-day 1972 session.

Thus far, the Legislature has enacted into law bills providing for an increase in maximum payments for aid to dependent children recipients, a large new state aid program for construction of municipal waste treatment facilities, a reduction of the required affirmative vote in local bond issues to a simple majority and it has endorsed constitutional amendments (one federal and one state) to lower the voting age in state and local elections to 18.

And while still other measures of major import have been enacted, the bulk of controversial items remains for the Unicameral to resolve. The law-makers face action on spending and taxing proposals — including a bill to provide a 50% tax exemption for personal property — the level of other state aid programs, the future of public employees negotiation rights and reapportionment. Clearly, much is left to do in the 30 legislative days remaining this session.

We were in favor of the constitutional amendment approved by voters last November as far as it pertained to establishing annual sessions of the Legislature, but thought then and still think that the 90 and 60 legislative day time limits are impractical. There would be no alarm on our part if the limits were extended each session in order to complete what was started. But if the lawmakers had seriously intended to use the time limits as guidelines for their work, they might have paced themselves a little better.

It Costs More To Live

Size and assessment figures for the Gateway Shopping Center make for some interesting observations. When its present expansion is completed, Gateway will have some 700,000 square feet of space. It will have an assessment of about $9 million, according to preliminary reports.

That means the assessment figures out at about $11.50 per square foot. This is about where most business properties will run in the tax picture.

On the other hand, a home is likely to be assessed closer to $16.50 per square foot. Thus, business property is likely to have an assessment of $5 a square foot less than residential property.

Maybe this is right, but it does leave you scratching your head and wondering if the home-owner is not paying more than his fair share of things. The explanation is that business construction is generally cheaper per square foot than residential construction.

Being cheaper to build, the business property has a lower assessment. If that is the only criterion that counts in taxation, then there can be little argument with the procedure.

Other things do enter into any assessment but the basic ingredient is construction costs. You take into account, too, replacement costs, market value and either depreciation or appreciation. But a lot of those items tend to cancel one another out, leaving the construction cost as the major factor.

Not taken much into account is the fact that a house is a place to live in and the business property is to make a profit. Should this be more of a factor in things than it is? We wonder if it should not be when you consider the investment that must be made in public services at the taxpayers' expense for business as opposed to residences.

JAMES RESTON

A Stirring Of Hope During This Easter Season That Old Individualism May Reassume Value

WASHINGTON — The Easter parade this year in America was a riot of modern individualism, a costume party, a masquerade ball, and the clowns never looked more gay or carefree or felt worse.

So something is wrong, and the theme of this sermon is that what is wrong is that we have forgotten Easter and kept the parade. We have replaced the old individualism, which came from our religious belief in the sanctity of each individual personality, with the new individualism, which comes from Freud and the garment district in New York City.

Maybe it was a good exchange, but all the chatter about hot pants and the cold war doesn't prove it. The materialism and egotism of the new individualism are often picturesque — the American people have never looked more amusing or interesting than they do today — but the old individualism was something quite different.

It came from the religious idea that each individual was sacred and different, and from the idea, not only that I'm as good as you, which is a modern notion, but that you're as good as I.

This is not an easy doctrine, for it involves humility, generosity, self-criticism, and on top of that, all the faith and hope you can get out of the Easter message of new beginnings and self-renewal.

Is this irrelevant to the modern age? Not if you think about the headlines in the daily newspapers. A government that understood the religious heritage of democracy and honestly believed in the sanctity of human life and the principles of humility, generosity and self-criticism could not possibly talk about "body-counts" or boast about its "superior" casualty record or pronounce such carnage a "success."

What has happened, however, or so it seems here — is that governments have come to believe — sometimes with the approval or at least the acquiescence of famous divines like Billy Graham — that they may suspend the ethical code they require or expect of other individual citizens, and apply the license of nations to pass approving judgment on themselves.

One reason why this is a troubled and unhappy country this Easter — and it is in some ways a hopeful thing — is that despite all the modern individualism and secularism, many men and women reject the idea that governments may defy the moral order of what is right and wrong and substitute some lower standard of collective license.

For many, religion has lost its dogma but at least retained its ethical influence. The outcry to "free Calley" indicates the moral confusion of the age, but underneath these emotional eruptions, there is still a solid foundation of decency in this country.

This is a major factor behind the cry to end the killing in Vietnam. It is not only that we are not "winning" or that the sacrifices are too great, but that there is no longer in the minds of many any moral purpose to the conflict: in short, that it is cruel, pointless and wrong.

It is quite inaccurate to characterize the opponents of the war as "neo-isolationists," as if their challenge to the administration on the war were a form of selfishness and rejection of responsibility.

In fact, what we may very well be seeing now is a new form of involvement in the larger problem of the human family, a wider concern for individual human life, not unlike the old religious idea that the thing that matters more than anything else is human life and decency.

To be fair about this, it is true that many other men and Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

The Reasons

Lincoln, Neb.

I noted in the April 1 Star that the third draft board member in Nebraska has resigned because of Lt. Calley's conviction. I applaud this—but what are their reasons. "My conscience will not let me continue with the officers and enlisted men are treated in such a manner," said James Heiser, Falls City. Gene McIntyre, Nance Clunty, said he could not sign any more induction orders in light of the treatment Lt. Calley had received from the military tribunal.

I think many of us are upset and disturbed because the military is making an example of Calley.

We are very carefully walking around the real issue. The United States is involved in a war in Southeast Asia. It is sending thousands of young men to be trained to kill; it is putting them in positions where they have to kill or be killed. Why didn't those draft board members resign because they were involved in producing My Lai. We ALL have to take responsibility for that.

KATHY COOK

Oil Interests

Schuyler, Neb.

Are American soldiers and the people of Southeast Asia dying for noble ideas or the black profits of oil?

According to the Wall Street Journal and confirmed in various trade journals, 17

highly sought after leases to drill for oil off the coast of Vietnam will be awarded by the Thieu-Ky government to international petroleum companies, most of which are American.

It is a known fact that war has resulted in vast profiteering for giant monopolies and munitions makers. Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler, commander, U.S. Marine Corps, World War I, said after World War I, the only way war would ever be stopped would be to remove the profit from war. This was after his retirement in November of 1935.

I spent 33 years and four months in active service as a member of our Marine Corps and during that period, I spent most of my time being a high-class muscle man for Big Business, for Wall Street and the bankers. I was rewarded with honors, medals and promotion.

It has long been charged that the Department of State is largely controlled by big oil interests. Those interests are not worth the life of even one of our sons or brothers.

ARLO HOPPE

Gap Widened

Lincoln, Neb.

To "J.E.R." (March 18 Star)—to say that Lincoln would not be the same after "Hair" came is ridiculous. If his children were so upset by seeing the show, they probably missed the point. "Hair" is concerned with youth and their problems. It is for youth by youth. People such as this writer seem to do nothing for the "generation gap" but widen it.

T.L.

Just 'Gooks'

York, Neb.

The public has witnessed a bit of American military efficiency, where women and children were forced into a ditch so that the rapid fire would be more effective. Attention has been focused on the officer in charge.

A court convicted this officer and the public was offended. Undoubtedly in many persons this reaction is rooted in the psychology which caused a coal baron to dismiss the deaths and crippling of his child employees with: "Hell. They don't suffer. They can't speak English."

Those Vietnamese couldn't speak English. Moreover, they weren't white, not even Christians. Just "gooks."

The next scene in the tragedy has the President of the United States commandeering nationwide television to remind the public that he is the commander-in-chief and that the purpose of the blood-letting is two-fold: to insure the relatives of those dead Vietnamese a free, self-determined government, and to remind all mankind that our military will secure peace in the world even if humanity is liquidated in the process.

FRANK B. STOWE

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Any information pertaining to cobalt 60 and its effects would be appreciated. What can one expect with its treatment? — N. N.

Cobalt 60 — metallic cobalt which has been made radioactive — is considerably misunderstood by people, probably because, for whatever reason, there hasn't been much effort to explain what it is.

Like many other isotopes (radioactive elements), cobalt 60 gives off gamma rays. Gamma rays are the same type of rays given off by an X-ray tube. The difference is that such isotopes give off the rays automatically and continuously, while an X-ray tube gives them off only when the electricity is turned on.

Therefore, X rays are controlled by turning a switch. Cobalt (or cesium or other such isotope) rays are controlled by enclosing them in a strong, lead-containing box, and the rays are emitted and aimed by opening a sort of "window" in the box.

But the rays are the same. X-ray pictures can be taken with cobalt rays — except that it is cheaper and more convenient to take X-ray plates with relatively low-power X-ray tubes. They produce better detail.

Cobalt and the more powerful X-ray tubes are used for intense X-ray treatments, and the effects are the same.

Whereas either very brief or low power gamma ray (X-ray) exposures have no detectable effects on a person, long exposures do.

By "brief," I mean the fraction of a second needed to take an X-ray picture, or the few seconds needed to treat certain skin conditions or other conditions on the surface of the body.

Deep, intense exposures are a different matter, the most common use being exposure for a matter of minutes, and several times, to destroy a cancer somewhere inside the body.

Such relatively long exposures actually destroy cells — and they destroy cancerous or abnormal cells more rapidly than they do normal tissues. Therefore the aim is to give enough exposure to destroy a cancer while doing comparatively less damage — but still some — to the normal cells through which the rays have to travel.

Thus, for example, a cancer close to the surface may at times be treated with the rays, and the patient experiences no side effects at all.

Yet with another cancer, the exposure may have to be longer and stronger to penetrate deeply enough and in sufficient strength, and then normal cells are damaged to some extent.

Surface X-ray changes can occur and, since rays penetrate, a comparable "burn" or destruction of tissue can occur inside, and this destroyed tissue has to be gradually eliminated by the body.

In certain cases, especially involving cancer, these heavy exposures are absolutely necessary, and the malaise is a price that has to be paid for it. Whether they are X rays or cobalt rays, they are the same, and act in the same way.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote to Mrs. S.M. that, if a toenail or fingernail was removed surgically or by accident, it would grow again. In 1965 my daughter shut a car door on her finger. The doctor removed her nail at the hospital. She still does not have a fingernail. How do you explain this? — Mrs. J.D.G.

Evidently the nail bed, from which the nail grows, was destroyed, too.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does psoriasis turn into cancer? — Mrs. P.R.

No, it doesn't.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: As a health food, which do you recommend: bread made with white flour or whole wheat flour? We are told today that white flour is enriched. What is it enriched with? Fifty years or so ago this subject was much discussed. These days we hear very little about which flour is used for the so-called staff of life. — D.B.M.

To your opening question, I don't recommend either over the other. It's a matter of which you like best.

The whole wheat idea had considerable merit, years ago, because in refining white flour a good deal of the vitamin and mineral value was lost. What was left was largely carbohydrate.

Enriched bread now usually means that B vitamins have been added — thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin. In some instances iron may be added.

Calling bread "the staff of life" may not be an entirely accurate way of thinking of it. B vitamins are obtained from other sources, chiefly cereals and meats. We need a certain amount of carbohydrate, but it can be obtained from other sources. Hundreds of millions of people use rice rather than bread as a staple.

Perhaps we'd be better off if we thought of a balanced diet as being the real "staff of life"—protein from meat, fish, and eggs plus a few other sources, carbohydrates whether from bread or other sources, vitamins and minerals from fruits and vegetables.

As to what kind of bread you eat, these days it doesn't make a great deal of difference if the rest of your diet is right.

Thone For Faster Withdrawal

Congressman Charles Thone Monday said he believes the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam "has got to be speeded up."

It is his impression, Thone told a breakfast meeting of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce legislative affairs-taxation committee, that "the people have lost patience" with the seemingly endless war.

Thone gave the Nixon administration "pretty high grades" in its efforts to keep peace in the Mideast.

On domestic matters, the First District Republican said two of the President's major programs — revenue sharing and executive reorganization — are in trouble. Thone supports both.

The revenue sharing plan has "a rough road to hoe," he said, and could use some effective pressure from supporters at the local government level.

Reorganization faces "a real uphill battle," Thone said.

While the Nixon plan must be carefully watched "to make sure that agriculture is not downgraded," the congressman said, the U.S. Department of Agriculture "needs reorganization in some areas."

Thone said he also supports a third major Nixon proposal — his welfare reform plan — but he is troubled by its minimum income features.

The family assistance plan is the beneficiary of "a pretty good push" in Washington, the first term Republican noted.

National health insurance proposals are receiving his close consideration, Thone said. He opposes the comprehensive, all-inclusive program sponsored by Sen. Edward Kennedy, which carries a price tag of $70 billion to $77 billion a year.

Thone's "big vote so far" was cast against further federal funding for the supersonic transport, he said.

"That was not an easy vote. I wrestled with it, but it came down to a question of national priorities over the expenditure of federal money.

"They just didn't sell me (but) they tried."

As for the host of proposals to restrict trade, Thone warned that agriculture would be "the first to feel restraints" when other nations respond to restrictive U.S. policies.

"I'm basically a free trader," he said.

When Thone left Washington a decade ago after serving as Sen. Roman Hruska's administrative assistant, he noted, there were 44 federal aid programs funded by $6 billion.

In 1970, when he returned as congressman-elect, Thone said, there were 430 programs costing $27 billion.

"That illustrates why revenue sharing is an idea whose time has come."

REP. CHARLES THONE

Lincoln Bus Aid Outlook 'Favorable'

Congressman Charles Thone Monday said the chances for approval of a federal grant to assist Lincoln in purchasing and operating the Lincoln City Lines as a public bus system look "very, very favorable."

Thone delivered his optimistic assessment to a breakfast meeting of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce legislative affairs-taxation committee.

Lincoln has applied for a federal grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Lincoln voters will consider a $965,000 bond issue at the May 4 city election to provide one-half of the anticipated costs.

Call-To-Industry Program Pushed By Schwartzkopf

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Monday he plans to continue his "call-to-industry" program and hopes to personally visit some 100 businesses and industries within the next four years.

"Although attracting new firms and industries is always important, I feel city government must continue to show its present industries that it is deeply interested in them and see what can be done to help them," Schwartzkopf said.

The mayor said he has already visited 60 firms, adding that the program allows city government to field any complaints or new ideas regarding city services.

Victim Charged

Muskegon, Mich. (UPI) — When a thief stole money from the Star Theater's cashbox, police investigating the report made by an employee found out he was only 15 years old. The movie theater's manager, Robert James Russell, 42, was charged with allowing a person under 16 to work without a permit.

Easier Way To Fire Employees Sought

Washington (AP) — Uncle Sam is looking for a way to make it easier to fire his hopelessly incompetent employees while saving those who can be helped.

One system change currently under study by the Civil Service Commission staff would hack away some of the red tape from the appeals procedures open to employees fighting dismissal.

But the other half of the proposed revisions would provide counseling and rehabilitation for faltering employees whose jobs might be saved if their work improves.

'Old Myth'

One reason for the re-examination of the Civil Service firing system, according to Chairman Robert Hampton, is to dispel "the old myth" that civil servants can't be fired.

Another concern is recent federal court decisions which have cited a certain stigma in being fired by the government — presumably because of a widespread public impression that it's almost impossible to lose a federal job.

Actually, about 15,000 federal employees are fired each year out of a total civil service work force of almost 3 million. This doesn't include those who lose their jobs through a reduction in force, such as the closing of a military base.

Stigma Examined

"The staff has been asked to see if the present system, designed to protect employees, might be so constructed that it is actually contributing to the stigma that the courts are concerned about," Hampton said.

Under the system tentatively being considered by the staff study group an employee falling down on the job through inefficiency or outright incompetency would be counseled.

Professional counselors would

But if the extra attention fails and an employee proves either unwilling or unable to do his job adequately, he could be fired and the process would be speeded up.

Council OKs Buying Of K Street Plant

... STEAM HEAT SERVICE FACILITY TO COST $650,000

The City Council Monday approved without discussion the purchase of the K St. plant at a cost of $650,000.

The plant will be used by the city to continue steam heat service to the downtown area.

The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) presently owns and operates the plant and has announced plans to discontinue the steam heat service.

Representatives of the Lincoln Electric System (LES) Administrative Board told the council last week that the city had a moral obligation to continue steam heat service.

The money will be paid over an eight-year period at an interest rate of 5% out of surplus electric revenue.

Steam Heat's Future

Meanwhile the LES board is looking into the future of steam heat service and whether it is feasible to continue or should be phased out.

The board plans to use steam heat rate charges to keep the operation on a self-supporting basis.

The council also reconsidered

an action last week regarding a change of zone from F Restricted Commercial to G Local Business at 37th and O.

After a lengthy discussion with David Pierson, an attorney for the applicant Austin Realty Co., the council on a 5-2 vote agreed to approve the change of zone.

Voting to sustain last week's decision to deny the zoning change were Mrs. Helen Boosalis and Dick Hartsock.

Detached Sign

The real estate firm is seeking the change to allow construction of a directory sign not attached to the building, which already has an identification sign attached to the building.

The alternative the council considered, but rejected, was to allow detached signs in the F-Restricted District by special permit under unusual circumstances.

Mrs. Boosalis questioned allowing more G Local Business zoning along O St.

But Councilman Tom Allman replied that O St. is already considerably developed for businesses.

The last time the council faced a similar problem occurred when Dimples Restaurant on Nebraska Hwy., located in the M Restricted district, wanted a banjo sign in a district which does not permit such signs.

'Least Damage'

Then the council decided to approve a change to G Local Business after Planning Director Doug Brogden said such a change "would do the least damage to the zoning fabric."

Brogden said that the circumstances are different this time, as both he and the Planning Commission recommended denial of the rezoning.

The council also held a public hearing on an ordinance which would allow utility contractors to do installation of private sanitary sewer, water, and storm sewer mains and approved a name change of the Lincoln Children's Zoo Association to the Arnett R. Folsom Zoological Society.

Other actions:

Resolutions

—Approved setting hearing date of April 26 on application of Red Rooster Southern Fried Chicken Inc. for a Class C Liquor license at Winthrop Rd and South St.

—Introduced change of zone from A-1 Single Family to F Restricted Commercial and C Multiple at 70th and A, requested by Eugene Wilczewski and William Kimball.

—Introduced change of zone from A-2 Single Family to H-1 Highway Business along 48th north of M St., requested by Art Johnson Realty.

Mayoral Candidates Clash Over City Government's Size

By TOM EKVAL
Star Staff Writer

Mayoral candidates sparred over the size of city government operations in an appearance Monday evening at the Lincoln Homebuilders Association meeting.

Council chairman Erv Peterson hit proposals by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf on expanding city government operations through additional departments.

The veteran councilman said, "Let's don't have another city department... efforts must be made to keep taxes from increasing."

He proposed that a manager be hired to run the bus system for the city and that he have his office at the bus terminal building.

Schwartzkopf has proposed the creation of housing department to coordinate public and private efforts in housing as well as a department to handle the bus system with a manager hired to run the system.

The housing department, he said, would centralize present city officials who are now spread among different departments.

Schwartzkopf made note of the fact that the mayor only recommends a budget, which the council approves or disapproves.

"Not once have they reduced my taxes," he commented in reply to Peterson's comment on increased costs.

The mayor said his primary vote total appears to him to be an indication that the people do not want a change in office and are aware that "progress is being made in an orderly manner within what the taxpayers can afford."

In the City Council race, both incumbent Mrs. Helen Boosalis and candidate Richard Baker favored the City Council having the final say on zoning.

Candidate Steve Cook, a member of the Planning Commission, also said he did not feel the commission should have the final say.

Cook said the Planning Commission should be doing more planning, and that zoning should be only a small part of the commission's activities.

Richard Hansen, another council candidate, has campaigned for removal of zoning powers from the City Council, with the Planning Commission having the final say.

Mrs. Nancy Childs called for maintaining a strong downtown core and need for more development of a convention center here.

Seeking re-election to the school board for a short term, Ed Copple questioned the wisdom of having educators sitting on the board.

Both his opponent Mrs. Karen Dinsmore and Ron Jensen, a candidate for the full term, are former teachers. Mrs. Dinsmore has a doctorate in education.

Jensen said he felt a long range school facilities plan should be developed rather than planning once the need exists for a facility.

Sikyta Urges Housing Study

City Council candidate Fred R. (Bob) Sikyta Monday said if elected he would request that the community gather up-to-date and authentic statistics about the need for low-income housing in Lincoln.

Sikyta said many people throw figures around, but no one yet has been able to verify hard figures for him when he has asked for them.

He urged use of federally funded job training programs to get new jobs for people who are unemployed and underemployed to help cut down the need for low-income housing in the city.

"We must make a real effort to erase those things which cause low income families. A good job and a decent income has to be the foundation for a well managed career for most people," he said.

Monopoly Record Comes And Goes For Omaha Boys

Two Omaha boys who thought they had a world record for nonstop Monopoly playing apparently didn't hold it long — or may not have had it at all.

For while the Omahans were claiming their 62 hours (ended Sunday) at the game broke a previous record of 60 hours, a pair of boys in Bethlehem, Pa. was well on its way to 80 nonstop hours at the game, to break a record they cited as 75 hours.

Both record-smashing attempts were reported Sunday by United Press International. And both were reported Monday morning by The Lincoln Star — on two different pages. The state editor was responsible for the Omaha story which appeared on Page 3 and the telegraph editor for the Pennsylvania story which appeared on Page 11.

Keep up with real depth reporting on government, state and community affairs in the Capital Section of the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Thone For Faster Withdrawal

Congressman Charles Thone Monday said he believes the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam "has got to be speeded up."

It is his impression, Thone told a breakfast meeting of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce legislative affairs-taxation committee, that "the people have lost patience" with the seemingly endless war.

Thone gave the Nixon administration "pretty high grades" in its efforts to keep peace in the Mideast.

On domestic matters, the First District Republican said two of the President's major programs — revenue sharing and executive reorganization — are in trouble. Thone supports both.

The revenue sharing plan has "a rough road to hoe," he said, and could use some effective pressure from supporters at the local government level.

Reorganization faces "a real uphill battle," Thone said.

While the Nixon plan must be carefully watched "to make sure that agriculture is not downgraded," the congressman said, the U.S. Department of Agriculture "needs reorganization in some areas."

Thone said he also supports a third major Nixon proposal — his welfare reform plan — but he is troubled by its minimum income features.

The family assistance plan is the beneficiary of "a pretty good push" in Washington, the first term Republican noted.

National health insurance proposals are receiving his close consideration, Thone said. He opposes the comprehensive, all-inclusive program sponsored by Sen. Edward Kennedy, which carries a price tag of $70 billion to $77 billion a year.

Thone's "big vote so far" was cast against further federal funding for the supersonic transport, he said.

"That was not an easy vote. I wrestled with it, but it came down to a question of national priorities over the expenditure of federal money."

"They just didn't sell me (but) they tried."

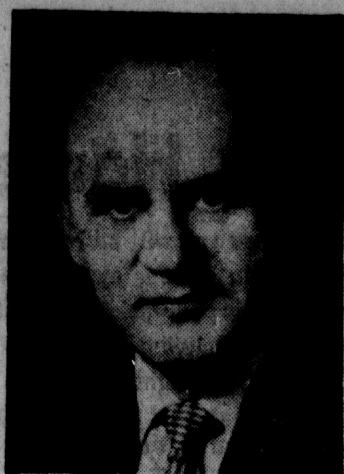

As for the host of proposals to restrict trade, Thone warned that agriculture would be "the first to feel restraints" when other nations respond to restrictive U.S. policies.

"I'm basically a free trader," he said.

When Thone left Washington a decade ago after serving as Sen. Roman Hruska's administrative assistant, he noted, there were 44 federal aid programs funded by $6 billion.

In 1970, when he returned as congressman-elect, Thone said, there were 430 programs costing $27 billion.

"That illustrates why revenue sharing is an idea whose time has come."

REP. CHARLES THONE

Lincoln Bus Aid Outlook 'Favorable'

Congressman Charles Thone Monday said the chances for approval of a federal grant to assist Lincoln in purchasing and operating the Lincoln City Lines as a public bus system look "very, very favorable."

Thone delivered his optimistic assessment to a breakfast meeting of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce legislative affairs-taxation committee.

Lincoln has applied for a federal grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Lincoln voters will consider a $965,000 bond issue at the May 4 city election to provide one-half of the anticipated costs.

Call-To-Industry Program Pushed By Schwartzkopf

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Monday he plans to continue his "call-to-industry" program and hopes to personally visit some 100 businesses and industries within the next four years.

"Although attracting new firms and industries is always important, I feel city government must continue to show its present industries that it is deeply interested in them and see what can be done to help them," Schwartzkopf said.

The mayor said he has already visited 60 firms, adding that the program allows city government to field any complaints or new ideas regarding city services.

Victim Charged

Muskegon, Mich. (UPI) — When a thief stole money from the Star Theater's cashbox, police investigating the report made by an employee found out he was only 15 years old. The movie theater's manager, Robert James Russell, 42, was charged with allowing a person under 16 to work without a permit.

Easier Way To Fire Employees Sought

Washington (AP) — Uncle Sam is looking for a way to make it easier to fire his hopelessly incompetent employees while saving those who can be helped.

One system change currently under study by the Civil Service Commission staff would hack away some of the red tape from the appeals procedures open to employees fighting dismissal.

But the other half of the proposed revisions would provide counseling and rehabilitation for faltering employees whose jobs might be saved if their work improves.

'Old Myth'

One reason for the re-examination of the Civil Service firing system, according to Chairman Robert Hampton, is to dispel "the old myth" that civil servants can't be fired.

Another concern is recent federal court decisions which have cited a certain stigma in being fired by the government — presumably because of a widespread public impression that it's almost impossible to lose a federal job.

Actually, about 15,000 federal employees are fired each year out of a total civil service work force of almost 3 million. This doesn't include those who lose their jobs through a reduction in force, such as the closing of a military base.

Stigma Examined

"The staff has been asked to see if the present system, designed to protect employees, might be so constructed that it is actually contributing to the stigma that the courts are concerned about," Hampton said.

Under the system tentatively being considered by the staff study group an employee falling down on the job through inefficiency or outright incompetency would be counseled.

Professional counselors would work with the employee to help improve his performance. They also would check on the supervision and instruction he is being given to see if the fault lies there.

But if the extra attention fails and an employee proves either unwilling or unable to do his job adequately, he could be fired and the process would be speeded up.

Council OKs Buying Of K Street Plant

... STEAM HEAT SERVICE FACILITY TO COST $650,000

The City Council Monday approved without discussion the purchase of the K St. plant at a cost of $650,000.

The plant will be used by the city to continue steam heat service to the downtown area.

The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) presently owns and operates the plant and has announced plans to discontinue the steam heat service.

Representatives of the Lincoln Electric System (LES) Administrative Board told the council last week that the city had a moral obligation to continue steam heat service.

The money will be paid over an eight-year period at an interest rate of 5% out of surplus electric revenue.

Steam Heat's Future
Meanwhile the LES board is looking into the future of steam heat service and whether it is feasible to continue or should be phased out.

The board plans to use steam heat rate charges to keep the operation on a self-supporting basis.

The council also reconsidered

an action last week regarding a change of zone from F Restricted Commercial to G Local Business at 37th and O.

After a lengthy discussion with David Pierson, an attorney for the applicant Austin Realty Co., the council on a 5-2 vote agreed to approve the change of zone.

Voting to sustain last week's decision to deny the zoning change were Mrs. Helen Boosalis and Dick Hartsock.

Detached Sign

The real estate firm is seeking the change to allow construction of a directory sign not attached to the building, which already has an identification sign attached to the building.

The alternative the council considered, but rejected, was to allow detached signs in the F-Restricted District by special permit under unusual circumstances.

Mrs. Boosalis questioned allowing more G Local Business zoning along O St.

But Councilman Tom Allman replied that O St. is already considerably developed for businesses.

The last time the council faced a similar problem occurred when Dumplings Restaurant on Nebraska Hwy., located in the M Restricted district, wanted a banjo sign in a district which does not permit such signs.

'Least Damage'

Then the council decided to approve a change to G Local Business after Planning Director Doug Brogden said such a change "would do the least damage to the zoning fabric."

Brogden said that the circumstances are different this time, as both he and the Planning Commission recommended denial of the rezoning.

The council also held a public hearing on an ordinance which would allow utility contractors to do installation of private sanitary sewer, water, and storm sewer mains and approved a name change of the Lincoln Children's Zoo Association to the Arnett R. Folsom Zoological Society.

Other actions:

—Approved setting hearing date of April 26 on application of Red Rooster Southern Fried Chicken Inc. for a Class C Liquor license at Winthrop Rd. and South Sts.

—Denied application of B & L Liquors for a Class D Package Liquor license at 2714 Randolph St. until certain conditions are met.

—Approved application of Barry's Tavern for a Class C Liquor license at 235 No. 9th.

—Approved application of A & D Inc., doing business as Happy Hour Lounge for a Class C Liquor license at 1042 P.

—Approved application of Misty Lounge for a Class C Liquor license at 4325 No. 63rd.

—Approved application of Lincoln Aero Club, doing business as Five O'Clock, at Lincoln Hotel for a Class C Liquor license.

—Approved application of the Knights of Columbus to occupy existing building for meeting rooms at northeast corner of 73rd and Holdrege.

—Approved application of T. W. Hanigan to enlarge a nonconforming use by adding a storage area to an existing building at 22nd and Randolph.

Ordinances, First Reading

—Introduced vacation of east-west alley between L. M. 14th and 15th Sts.

—Introduced vacation of 39th from south half of Sheridan Blvd. southward to the east-west alley.

—Introduced change of zone from A-2 Single Family to B Two Family on property located on north side of Garland St. at 53rd, requested by Leon Hadley.

—Introduced change of zone from A-2 Single Family to B Two Family on two lots at northeast corner of 38th and Vine, requested by Robert Bell.

—Introduced change of zone from A-1 Single Family to F Restricted Commercial and C Multiple at 70th and A, requested by Eugene Wilczewski and William Kimball.

—Introduced change of zone from A-2 Single Family to H-1 Highway Business along 48th north of M St., requested by Art Johnson Realty.

Mayoral Candidates Clash Over City Government's Size

Star Staff Writer

Mayoral candidates sparred over the size of city government operations in an appearance Monday evening at the Lincoln Homebuilders Association meeting.

Council chairman Erv Peterson hit proposals by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf on expanding city government operations through additional departments.

"New departments have a way of growing and of demanding more money and more staff without commensurate increase in output," Peterson said.

Peterson cited increases in city expenditures for relatively new divisions, notably traffic engineering, housing administration's office, and corporation counsel, in arguing against creation of a housing department and a department to handle a municipal bus system.

The veteran councilman said, "Let's don't have another city department... efforts must be made to keep taxes from increasing."

He proposed that a manager be hired to run the bus system for the city and that he have his office at the bus terminal building.

Schwartzkopf has proposed the creation of housing department to coordinate public and private efforts in housing as well as a department to handle the bus system with a manager hired to run the system.

The housing department, he said, would centralize present city officials who are now spread among different departments.

Schwartzkopf made note of the fact that the mayor only recommends a budget, which the council approves or disapproves.

"Not once have they reduced my taxes," he commented in reply to Peterson's comment on increased costs.

The mayor said his primary vote total appears to him to be an indication that the people do not want a change in office and are aware that "progress is being made in an orderly manner within what the taxpayers can afford."

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

To Sell Or Not To Sell Is Retiring Homeowner's Question

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

A reader writes:—To sell or not to sell our home? That is the question we're wrestling with. It's pretty costly to maintain, but on the other hand we say to ourselves that its sale value keeps going up—so why worry?

With retirement I will get a sum of money from the stock purchase plan at our company, to which I have been contributing for many years. With this, I could probably wipe out the mortgage. What do you think is wisest?

Answer: If you own your own home outright, of course that will eliminate mortgage payments. However, this does not mean that your housing costs as a budget item can be dismissed from your figuring.

If, as you say, you own a $50,000 home clear and can afford to enjoy it in retirement, then by all means you should do so. If, however, your retirement income is less than $10,000 a year, then, perhaps, you should do some arithmetic.

This same $50,000 reinvested in good common stocks, Treasury bonds or high-grade corporate bonds can bring in anywhere from $2,500 to $4,000 a year. So, if you add your current heat costs, real estate taxes, repairs and other maintenance costs to this $2,500 to $4,000 figure, you will get a more realistic figure for your retirement housing costs.

Perhaps you will still prefer to remain in your own home, and that is your privilege. But if you are living on a close budget, you ought at least to know what this privilege is costing you in order to compare the savings which could come from a rented apartment or smaller home.

A reader writes:—Ever since our neighbor had a heart attack, my husband has been apprehensive of his own condition. At times he even shows real fear that the same thing might happen to him. How can I talk to him and help him relax?

Answer: The best way a person can keep from getting heart disease is to stop worrying about getting it. Of course, for many that's not easy, but it's most important to work on.

See that he takes good care of his general health, keeps his weight down and watches his diet. He should get plenty of relaxation and exercise and the sleep he needs. He should get a physical checkup about once a year, and find out definitely from his doctor if there are any of the symptoms present.

One of the worst diseases of senior citizens is the fear of old age itself. We must realize that we cannot stop aging. But we can enjoy much health and happiness in our senior years if we learn to grow old intelligently and gracefully.

Physicians maintain that fear of disease is often a greater menace to a healthful and happy life than the disease itself.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Tuesday

The Virgo person, although generally restless, is capable of absorbing details. Those born under this zodiacal sign can feel themselves, but it is difficult for others to pull wool over their eyes. These people can capture subtle nuances. They usually are aware of time. Virgo is drawn to Capricorn, often marries Pisces and can have brilliant conversations with those born under Scorpio.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Hold off on financial commitments. Take time to evaluate inventory of your own assets is essential. Finish major project. Leave no loose ends. Money pressure will ease.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You will have to handle added pressure. Don't duck responsibility. A past commitment makes responsibility. Maintain balance. Throw aside outmoded concepts. Get down to business.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Play low key. You gain most now through quiet approach. One who constantly complains must be given facts of life. Refuse to be a door mat for any person. Message will be clear.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent versatility. Don't scatter forces. Finish what you start. Spread influence. An older friend may have legitimate objection. Be a good listener. You learn something of value.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Check details, don't overlook apparent minor matters. One born under Scorpio can help unravel mystery. Accent on securing property. Stay on top of situation. Be available.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take nothing for granted. Report's need verification. Some messages now tend to go astray. Key is to do some personal investigating. Ask questions. Go to source. No second hand reports.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some financial pressure is indicated. Payments come due. Weigh budget, take inventory. Home improvements are necessary. Make gesture of reconciliation to family member. You'll be happier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be aware of competition. Don't fool yourself into false sense of security. Be wary of one who is quiet, but resentful. Face facts as they exist. Recent venture will bear fruit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Improve relations with associates, co-workers. State needs. Frank approach now will be constructive. What had been hidden is revealed. You know where you are going.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You complete important task and receive added recognition. Steer clear of dispute between friends. Otherwise you could be caught in middle. Tread lightly. Laugh at your own foibles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your values are put to test. You may have to choose between inertia and progress. Latter course takes initiative. Don't permit yourself to remain in any rut.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Some plans are altered. Have faith in ultimate outcome. Giving up now would be error. There will be changes. You will adjust to them. Protect interests via legal procedure.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY the month of September will be the most significant of the year. Commercial success, emotional fulfillment are on agenda. If single, marriage is on horizon. You finally will get as much as you give.

The new gas water heater.

"It's faster."

It's faster because the gas water heater has "instant recovery." When you use hot water, gas goes to work immediately to heat more hot water. The new gas water heater doesn't have to wait for elements to get hot before the water gets hot.

If your family has been running out of hot water lately, it's time you replaced your old gas water heater with a new gas water heater. It's bigger—in capacity and in the way it goes about its job.

The new gas water heater is faster because it can keep pouring out hot water bath after bath and wash after wash.

To Sell Or Not To Sell Is Retiring Homeowner's Question

By HENRY SCHMIDT

A reader writes:—To sell or not to sell our home? That is the question we're wrestling with. It's pretty costly to maintain, but on the other hand we say to ourselves that its sale value keeps going up—so why worry?

With retirement I will get a sum of money from the stock purchase plan at our company, to which I have been contributing for many years. With this, I could probably wipe out the mortgage. What do you think is wisest?

Answer: If you own your own home outright, of course that will eliminate mortgage payments. However, this does not mean that your housing costs as a budget item can be dismissed from your figuring.

If, as you say, you own a $50,000 home clear and can afford to enjoy it in retirement, then by all means you should do so. If, however, your retirement income is less than $10,000 a year, then, perhaps, you should do some arithmetic.

This same $50,000 reinvested in good common stocks, Treasury bonds or high-grade corporate bonds can bring in anywhere from $2,500 to $4,000 a year. So, if you add your current heat costs, real estate taxes, repairs and other maintenance costs to this $2,500 to $4,000 figure, you will get a more realistic figure for your retirement housing costs.

Perhaps you will still prefer to remain in your own home, and that is your privilege. But if you are living on a close budget, you ought at least to know what this privilege is costing you in order to compare the savings which could come from a rented apartment or smaller home.

A reader writes:—Ever since our neighbor had a heart attack, my husband has been apprehensive of his own condition. At times he even shows real fear that the same thing might happen to him. How can I talk to him and help him relax?

Answer: The best way a person can keep from getting heart disease is to stop worrying about getting it. Of course, for many that's not easy, but it's most important to work on.

See that he takes good care of his general health, keeps his weight down and watches his diet. He should get plenty of relaxation and exercise and the sleep he needs. He should get a physical checkup about once a year, and find out definitely from his doctor if there are any of the symptoms present.

One of the worst diseases of senior citizens is the fear of old age itself. We must realize that we cannot stop aging. But we can enjoy much health and happiness in our senior years if we learn to grow old intelligently and gracefully.

Physicians maintain that fear of disease is often a greater menace to a healthful and happy life than the disease itself.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Tuesday

The Virgo person, although generally restless, is capable of absorbing details. Those born under this zodiacal sign can feel themselves, but it is difficult for others to pull wool over their eyes. These people can capture subtle nuances. They usually are aware of fine print. Virgo is drawn to Capricorn, often marries Pisces and can have brilliant conversations with those born under Scorpio.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Hold off on financial commitments. Take time to evaluate. Inventory of your own assets is essential. Finish major project. Leave no loose ends. Money pressure will ease.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You will have to handle added pressure. Don't duck responsibility. A past commitment makes reappearance. Maintain balance. Throw aside outmoded concepts. Get down to business.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Play low key. You gain most now through quiet approach. One who constantly complains must be given facts of life. Refuse to be a door mat for any person. Message will be clear.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent versatility. Don't scatter forces. Finish what you start. Spread influence. An older friend may have legitimate objection. Be a good listener. You learn something of value.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Check details; don't overlook apparent minor matters. One born under Scorpio can help unravel mystery. Accent on securing property. Stay on top of situation. Be available.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take nothing for granted. Reports need verification. Some messages now tend to go astray. Key is to do some personal investigating. Ask questions. Go to source. No second hand reports.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some financial pressure is indicated. Payments come due. Weigh budget; take inventory. Home improvements are necessary. Make gesture of reconciliation to family member. You'll be happier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be aware of competition. Don't fool yourself into false sense of security. Be wary of one who is quiet, but resentful. Face facts as they exist. Recent venture will bear fruit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Improve relations with associates, co-workers. State needs. Frank approach now will be constructive. What had been hidden is revealed. You know where you are going.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You complete important task and receive added recognition. Steer clear of dispute between friends. Otherwise you could be caught in middle. Tread lightly. Laugh at your own follies.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your values are put to test. You may have to choose between inertia and progress. Latter course takes initiative. Don't permit yourself to remain in any rut.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Some plans are altered. Have faith in ultimate outcome. Giving up now would be error. There will be changes. You will adjust to them. Protect interests via legal procedure.
IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY the month of September will be the most significant of the year. Commercial success, emotional fulfillment are on agenda. If single, marriage is on horizon. You finally will get as much as you give.

Lovett To Speak At Press Meeting

A Kentucky newspaper publisher will speak Friday to outstate daily publishers during the 98th annual Nebraska Press Association Convention.

Joe T. Lovett, 71, of Owensboro, Ky., has been editor and publisher of his own newspapers, president of the Kentucky Press Association, state commander of the American Legion and a director of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

Other speakers at the four day convention will be Dr. Kenneth McFarland of the General Motors speakers bureau; Newt Wallace, publisher of the Winters, Calif., Express, and Mearle Griffith, general manager of the Ankeyn, Iowa, Press Citizen.

The convention begins Thursday at the Lincoln Hotel.

Prisoner Released

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (UPI)—Mohammed Hashim, 24, was released from prison after serving two years for the attempted assassination of former president Mohammed Ayub Khan, it was announced. Hashim fired two shots at Ayub during a rally at Peshawar on Oct. 10, 1968. No one was hit.

The new gas water heater.

"It's faster."

It's faster because the gas water heater has "instant recovery." When you use hot water, gas goes to work immediately to heat more hot water. The new gas water heater doesn't have to wait for elements to get hot before the water gets hot.

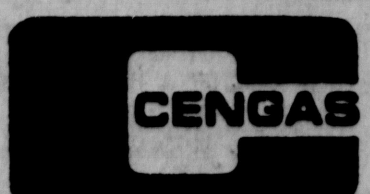

If your family has been running out of hot water lately, it's time you replaced your old gas water heater with a new gas water heater. It's bigger—in capacity and in the way it goes about its job.

The new gas water heater is faster because it can keep pouring out hot water bath after bath and wash after wash.

Officials Said Ignoring Low-Pollution Engines

Washington (UPI) — Inventor William P. Lear, in a 1,200-word telegram to every member of Congress, charged Monday the government was squandering millions to develop low-pollution transportation equipment; his company had already perfected it.

"People are dying while studies are being made of studies, while the wheel is being re-invented," said the inventor of the first car radio, the first automatic jet pilot and airplane guidance systems.

The administration of these funds might be shrugged aside as "typical government boondoggling," he added. "However, the tragic waste of both time and money towards a solution for the serious air pollution problem is outrageous . . .

"There seems to be a concerted effort to avoid the actual procurement of workable low-pollution power systems."

Lear, whose company designed the Lear jet, a businessman's aircraft, said while his firm had developed a successful vapor engine for automobiles and buses, the urban mass transportation administrator had ignored it and was continuing with an expensive program to develop the same kind of engine.

He also said the UMTA was spending $4 million to develop a low-pollution bus while his company could provide such a bus for $1 million in government funds.

Personal Fund

His vapor engine, Lear said, was developed with $8 million "from my personal fund."

"I would consider this money well spent if now, with the cooperation of the government, we could move ahead quickly and produce meaningful bodies of hardware," he said. "Instead, our considerable bank of research knowledge is almost wholly and totally ignored by the governmental agencies charged with administering the clean air act."

Lear said although his engine was already invented, the Environmental Health Service rejected his bids when it called for two proposals on how to construct such an engine.

'Paper Company'

Moreover, Lear said the winner of one of the contracts was Steam Engine Systems Inc. of Newton, Mass., "hardly more than a paper company," and controlled by Richard Morse and David Ragone, both former government employers who once had been in a position to obtain proprietary information from his company and others leading to development of a vapor engine.

The other contract award, said Lear, went to Airjet Nuclear Systems Co. of Sacramento, Calif., which he said had "no particular history of competence" in the vapor engine field and submitted a bid of $562,331 while the Lear bid was $518,365.

"Regarding both proposals," Lear said, "we were not questioned or consulted during the period of consideration . . . in effect, the government chose to completely ignore our three years and $8 million worth of valuable research although this information could have been obtained for the asking."

The fact that I offered to build a low-pollution bus for less than a million dollars appears to be less desirable to the government administrative mind than spending $4 million on systems management. Likewise, the fact that I have a working low-pollution engine ready to install in an automobile also is completely ignored."

Hoffa Returns To Prison

Lewisburg, Pa. (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa returned Monday night to the federal prison where he is serving a 13-year term for jury tampering and mail fraud after a five-day leave of absence to visit his ill wife.

Accompanied by his son, the 58-year-old labor leader rode up to the front gate in a rented car and paused at a microphone outside the gate.

"This is Mr. Hoffa returning to prison," said his son, James P. Hoffa, 30, an attorney. The elder Hoffa was seated at his side.

The car then wheeled around to the front gate and Hoffa got out as the sliding bars on the steel door opened.

Asked about the trip to San Francisco where his wife, Josephine, was seriously ill in a hospital with a heart ailment, Hoffa said it was "just fine."

Asked how he felt about going back behind bars, Hoffa said flatly, almost without expression: "It was my agreement to come back — and I'm here."

Then both he and his son walked into the prison and the gates closed.

Two Charged With Trying To Hire Persons To Kill Daley, Jackson

Chicago (AP) — Two men were charged Monday with trying to hire persons to assassinate Mayor Richard J. Daley and black civil rights leader the Rev. Jesse L. Jackson. Chicago newspapers said two other men had been charged in the case earlier.

The names of Daley and Jackson were specified in charges of soliciting to commit murder placed against Earl P. Dillard, 37, and Howard Harris, 33. Police said "many other persons" are being sought in the alleged plot.

The two other men, Charles Whiteside and Terry Simmons, were charged April 6 with soliciting to commit murder.

No Confirmation Police refused to confirm whether they were involved in the Daley-Jackson case.

Army Drops Charges, Lets Officer Leave

Ft. Meade, Md. (AP) — Lt. Louis P. Font, a West Point graduate who could have been sentenced to 25 years in prison on five counts of willful disobedience of orders, was honorably discharged from the Army on Monday after all charges were dropped.

Post information officer Joseph J. Hedley said that Font, who has been seeking discharge as a conscientious objector since February, 1970, officially became a civilian again at midnight.

Ft. Meade authorities gave no reason for Font's discharge other than to say post officials had recommended it on the grounds of inefficiency.

The lieutenant's request for conscientious objector status because he objected to the Vietnam War was rejected, but an appeal was still pending.

"I'm out — completely out," he said after completing the paperwork for his discharge Monday. "And I'm very happy."

The newspapers said the four men were members of a black militant group that wanted Daley and Jackson killed in order to start a race war which would enable their group to assume power in the city.

All four men were held in lieu of $5,000 bond and their

Poisonous Gas Kills Six Miners In South Illinois

Golconda, Ill. (AP) — Six miners were killed Monday by poisonous gas in a fluorspar mine near Golconda, an Ohio River town in southern Illinois.

Five of the victims were pronounced dead when they were lifted to the surface of the mine. A sixth miner died later in a hospital in nearby Rosiclare.

Another man felled by the fumes was admitted to the hospital, but his condition was not learned.

The miners were killed by hydrogen sulfide — a deadly gas that gives off the odor of rotten eggs but is a rare hazard in mining operations, state officials said.

Police Recover Stolen Painting Worth $250,000

Mantua, Italy (AP) — Police have recovered a stolen 15th century painting valued at an estimated $240,000. Two residents of the Venice suburb of Mestre have been arrested and charged with possessing stolen art.

The painting, an altar piece depicting the Virgin Mary and Child, by Gian Battista Cima of Conegliano, had been taken from a church in Padua on April 3.

Police found it hidden under the seat of a small car when they stopped it on Easter Sunday. The two arrested are Pier Luigi Montecchio, 21, and Maurizio Chiarion, 22.

GOP Hopefuls Collide Over Secretary Issue

By The Associated Press Rival candidates for the Republican state chairmanship have collided over the issue of the executive secretary.

Milan Bish of Grand Island disclosed recently he had advised Executive Secretary Joe Edwards to seek employment elsewhere as of May 1.

Carroll Thompson, Lincoln public relations executive, who entered the race Saturday said this was "presumptuous" of Bish. He declared Bish should have waited to see if he wins the post before "having any thoughts" about replacing Edwards.

Bish said Monday he wanted to be completely honest with Edwards and hence had told him that if he, Bish, were elected to the post, he felt that in the interest of party unity it would be better if Edwards found employment elsewhere.

"I wanted to let him know how I felt so he would have plenty of time to make his plans," Bish said.

The Grand Island man, who had the blessing of U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis when he announced his candidacy to succeed Mrs. Lorraine Orr of North Platte said he had expected opposition and is "pleased there's a contest because it should clear the air."

Thompson entered the contest Saturday.

Goodrich Dairy Is Found Guilty And Fined $25

Goodrich Dairy Inc. of Omaha has been fined $25 in Lancaster County Court in connection with a misdemeanor charge filed last August in connection with the alleged offering of milk for "less than the quantity represented."

The dairy firm had pleaded innocent March 15 to the charge of false weights but changed its plea to nolo contendere and was found guilty by Judge Ralph Slocum.

According to Chief Deputy County Attorney William Blue at the time the complaint was filed, the complaint allegedly involved some fractional size errors in some glass milk containers.

'Hell On Wheels'

London (AP) — British Motorists on the way home from a long, sunny Easter weekend were stuck in traffic jams up to 10 miles long. Officials called it "hell on wheels" and said the traffic tieup was the worst in years.

New Jersey M.D. Asks Ballot Spot For President

Nebraska's 1972 "all-star" presidential primary received its first request Monday from a prospective candidate seeking a spot on the ballot.

Harry Cohen of Camden, N.J., in a letter to Secretary of State Allen Beermann, made his "personal and formal proclamation to be the next Democratic president of the United States of America and to formally register in your state as the number one Democratic presidential candidate in the primaries and general elections in 1972."

What's New in Lincoln. Illustrated feature stories in the "Sunday Journal and Star" keep you informed.

In his letter to Beermann, Cohen identified himself as an M.D., holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, holder of degrees from Temple University and New York University and the "greatest man in the world."

Under the rules of Nebraska's primary, the secretary of state may place on the ballot any person he considers to be a "serious" candidate for the presidency.

Beermann said he would write Cohen and tell Cohen he would have to petition to get on the ballot. It would take at least 100 signatures from each of Nebraska's three congressional districts, said Beermann.

Suburbia's Busy Weekend

Easter day marked a special event for people of all religions because it brings a rebirth — a freshening of attitude, goals and an entirely new outlook on life.

And the Easter season brought another special event to the Happy Hollow Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Larsen and their three children Jean Ann, Carol Lynn and Robert.

The event? Carol Lynn was born two years ago on Easter day. As we all know though, the calendars, dates, and days play a skippy hop-scotch game as the years go by, so this year, Carol's birthday, which is April 6, fell on a Tuesday, a week ago.

The new two-year-old was honored at an early celebration on Sunday evening at home. Joining the immediate family were both sets of Carol's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Larsen, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Malek.

To top off the evening barbeque, nothing could have been better than Carol's birthday cake, which appropriately was decorated with a bright Easter bunny.

Exactly a week ago, the stork found his way to the Cotner Terrace home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beach and their two sons, Michael and David.

The new arrival was none other than Matthew Scott Beach, who was proudly looked upon not only by his parents and two brothers but his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Beach and Mrs. H. Klein of Omaha.

ABBY

Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is the man I am living with. I love him very much. We have two kids and we aren't married yet. He always has some excuse. Sometimes he stays away from home a week at a time. The only time I am sure of where he is is when they detain him in jail. He makes good money and he's not stingy with it.

I hate to leave him because everything we have is paid for. And like I said, I love the guy. Write me back and tell me what to do.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: It's my guess that you've already decided that living with him is better than living without him. Face it, as long as you love the guy you'll always find a reason for not leaving him.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 18, and she's engaged to a young man who is 22. They want a June wedding, and here is where we disagree.

They picked a dirty old run-down hall with outdoor rest rooms. Also, they want a justice of the peace to marry them, and a reception later. For this they want bridesmaids and ushers and my daughter wants a white gown and veil.

We are well able to give them a beautiful wedding in a church, with a minister, and a dinner and reception at a nice club.

There is no sentimental reason for their choosing this dirty run-down hall. It doesn't even have an organ or piano. Our daughter was raised in the Lutheran church and her fiancé says he's an atheist.

We just can't see it their way. Can you help?

HAVE PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: It would appear that your daughter is anti-establishment and wants a wedding in keeping with her sentiments. If you insist that she either have a traditional type wedding or the kind she wants without you, prepare to be excluded.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

MISS JANICE WESTERBERG

Of interest to town and campus this morning is the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Janice Sonja Westerberg, daughter of Mrs. Adolph Westerberg and the late Mr. Westerberg, to Theodore Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted G. Schroeder of Fairfield, which is announced by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding will take place on Friday, May 28, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the First Lutheran Church.

Miss Westerberg is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Schroeder was graduated last June from the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration, and now is attending the College of Law. He is a member of Phi Delta Phi, law fraternity, and of Phi Eta Sigma honorary.

MISS DEBBIE WIGHTMAN

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Don Wightman of Wayne, of the engagement of their daughter, Debbie Gene, to Robert B. Ensz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ensz of Beatrice.

The wedding will take place in August.

Miss Wightman is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and from where she received her Master's degree in education. She now is a member of the English faculty at East High School.

Mr. Ensz was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration, and his fraternity is Delta Tau Delta. Mr. Ensz, upon completion of his military duty, returned to the University of Nebraska where he now is a freshman in the College of Law.

MISS JUDITH PARK

The engagement of Miss Judith Wynn Park of Lincoln, to Jerry L. Bohaty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry M. Bohaty of Beaver Crossing, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Park of Crete.

Friday, Aug. 20, has been chosen as the wedding date.

Miss Park is a graduate of the Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, and now is careering in the offices of Dr. H. E. Wallace.

Mr. Bohaty is a graduate of York Junior College and now is attending the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Ensz was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration, and his fraternity is Delta Tau Delta. Mr. Ensz, upon completion of his military duty, returned to the University of Nebraska where he now is a freshman in the College of Law.

MISS JUDITH PARK

The engagement of Miss Judith Wynn Park of Lincoln, to Jerry L. Bohaty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry M. Bohaty of Beaver Crossing, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Park of Crete.

Friday, Aug. 20, has been chosen as the wedding date.

Miss Park is a graduate of the Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, and now is careering in the offices of Dr. H. E. Wallace.

Mr. Bohaty is a graduate of York Junior College and now is attending the University of Nebraska.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is the man I am living with. I love him very much. We have two kids and we aren't married yet. He always has some excuse. Sometimes he stays away from home a week at a time. The only time I am sure of where he is is when they detain him in jail. He makes good money and he's not stingy with it.

I hate to leave him because everything we have is paid for. And like I said, I love the guy. Write me back and tell me what to do.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: It's my guess that you've already decided that living with him is better than living without him. Face it, as long as you love the guy you'll always find a reason for not leaving him.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 18, and she's engaged to a young man who is 22. They want a June wedding, and here is where we disagree.

They picked a dirty old run-down hall with outdoor rest rooms. Also, they want a justice of the peace to marry them, and a reception later. For this they want bridesmaids and ushers and my daughter wants a white gown and veil.

We are well able to give them a beautiful wedding in a church, with a minister, and a dinner and reception at a nice club.

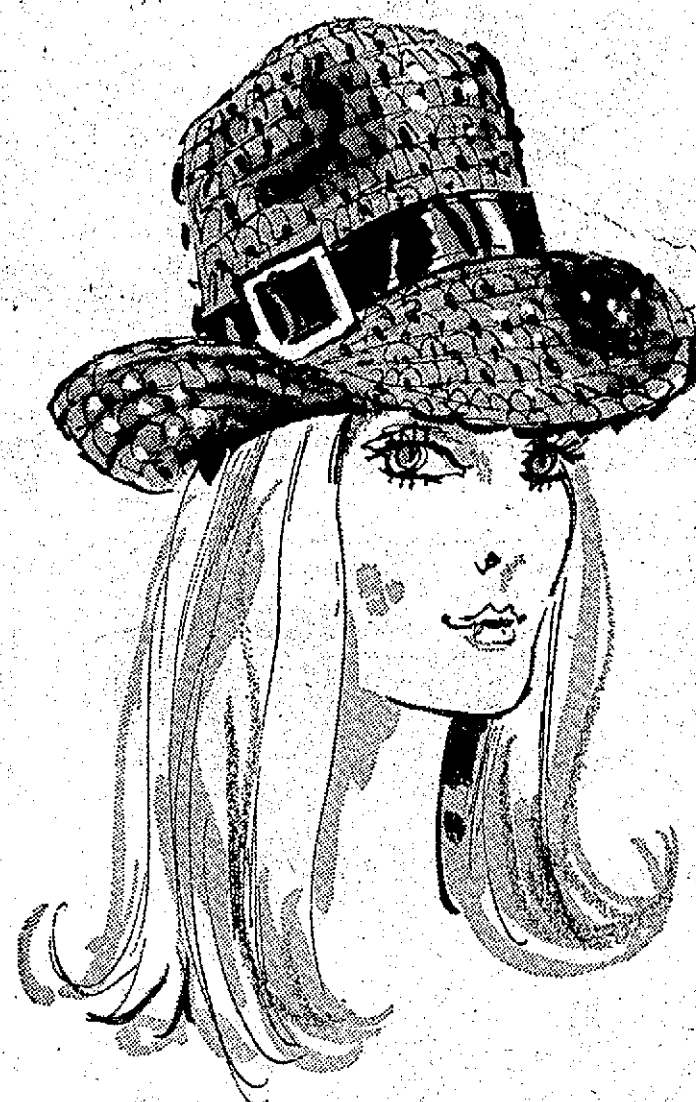

There is no sentimental reason for their choosing this dirty run-down hall. It doesn't even have an organ or piano. Our daughter was raised in the Lutheran church and her fiancé says he's an atheist.

We just can't see it their way. Can you help?

HAVE PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: It would appear that your daughter is anti-establishment and wants a wedding in keeping with her sentiments. If you insist that she either have a traditional type wedding or the kind she wants without you, prepare to be excluded.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Opening lead—king of hearts.

Bridge is not like ticktacktoe, where you can't lose if you play perfectly. There are hands in bridge where all you can do is try to exercise your very best judgment and hope that everything comes out shipshape.

Here is a typical example. Let's say you're West and lead the king of hearts. Dummy plays the seven, East the nine, and declarer the three. What would you play next?

It is clear that partner's nine is a come-on signal requesting another heart lead. But what is not clear is whether he is signaling to show the doubleton nine and wants you to cash the ace and lead a third one so that he can overruff dummy, or whether he has the queen and wants you to play a low heart at trick two so that he can make the killing diamond return.

In the actual hand, your decision is crucial. If you play the ace of hearts, South makes the contract; if you play a low heart, South goes down after East switches to a diamond.

As a defender, how do you solve such a problem? The answer is that you simply have to follow probabilities, that is, you make a determination that East is either more likely or less likely to have a low doubleton heart than to have the queen.

Stated differently, you must decide which of these two types of hands declarer is more apt to have:

1. ♠ A K Q J 10 8 4 ♥ 5 3 ♦ A 10 9 3 ♣ 6
2. ♠ A K Q J 10 8 4 ♥ 5 3 ♦ A 10 9 3 ♣ 6

There is only a remote chance of finding South with precisely five hearts and East with a higher trump than the jack, but a very good chance of finding East with the queen. Accordingly, you play a low heart at trick two and South must go down one.

The residents of Milder Manor had a delightful surprise for Easter. Three very thoughtful young ladies, all from Elliott School, decided to trim the evergreen trees which border the Manor's patio.

So, with baskets of beautifully decorated Easter eggs and ornaments, including plastic bunnies, the young threesome went to work. As a result, the outside of Milder Manor was most attractive — and inside were some very delighted and grateful adults.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 Days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special)—This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. It has made people slim, attractive and feel young again. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories and offices throughout the U.S.

Word of its success has spread like wildfire. This is the diet that really works. No pills or drugs. We have testimonials in our files reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first 4 days, but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you partake of foods formerly "forbidden" such as big juicy steaks, roast or fried chicken, rich gravies, spareribs, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full and still lose 10 pounds in the first 10 days plus 1½ pounds every two days thereafter. The secret behind this new "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. The grapefruit acts as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You eat as much as you want of the permitted foods listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and blood are gone your weight will remain constant. A copy of this very successful diet plan including suggested menus can be obtained by sending $2 to Grapefruit Diet. MONEY BACK GUARANTEE. If after diligently trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Fill out the coupon, mail it today, and you will receive your diet rush via first class mail. Decide now to regain the trim, attractive figure of your youth, while enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners.

Winton Blount Promises Quicker Mail Delivery

Washington (UPI) — By summer, Americans will have one-day air mail service from cities within 600 miles and second-day delivery from most other major cities in the continental United States. Postmaster General Winton M. Blount promised Monday.

Pledging similar delivery goals soon will be announced for first-class mail, Blount told reporters, "This is the first time the postal service has ever stuck its neck out like this. It's a very important first step on the road to improving service to the American people."

The better service Blount promised will be accompanied by higher rates. Effective May 16, air mail will climb from 10 to 11 cents and first-class mail from 6 to 8 cents.

24% In 1 Day

Approximately 2.25 billion of the annual 82 billion pieces of mail carried in this country is air mail. At present, Blount said only 24% of it is arriving within one day and only 70% by the second day.

Crime Group Files Outline Of Spending

The State Crime Commission has filed with federal authorities its outline for spending $2.4 million in federal money which would be allocated to the state under a 1968 law.

The federal dollars would be matched by $852,344 put up in matching money by local or state governments.

Nebraska's 1971 federal allocation under the 1968 Safe Streets and Crime Control Act compares with last year's funding for $1.3 million.

Projects being considered by the commission for federal funding will range from daily use equipment such as guns and handcuffs to psychological testing for men seeking employment as law officers.

The commission budget has already been approved by Gov. J. J. Exon.

Nursing Home Administrators Hold Workshop

Some 110 administrators of Nebraska nursing homes gathered in Lincoln Monday for a day-long workshop dealing with library services available to nursing homes and the psychological problems of the aging.

Featured speaker on the library services was Mrs. Frances Warnsholz, moderator librarian for the Nebraska Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped; while Dr. Beverly T. Mead addressed the group on the aging's psychological problems.

Dr. Mead is the chairman of the psychiatry department at Creighton University School of Medicine, in Omaha.

Other speakers at the Nebraska Nursing Homes Assn. workshop included Mrs. Beverly Bishop, of the Kearney Public Library; Mrs. Loreta Tiemann, of the Lincoln City Library; and Joseph Ridgway, of Providence Hospital.

By next July, he predicted the improved deliveries will be 95% effective for all ZIP-coded air mail deposited in 3,500 special air mail boxes in 500 selected cities by 4 p.m. weekdays. The project to speed up air mail delivery gets underway April 22, Blount said.

There is presently about a 25% advantage in using air mail over first class but Blount predicted the new delivery standards "will widen that difference."

"Better Performance" "Air mail today has a measurably better performance," he said. "We're going to come along with other service standards so the customer can choose which he wants to pay for."

Postmasters in the 500 cities selected for the air mail standards will make their own

Douglas County Didn't Have OK To Issue Checks

Douglas County did not get permission last week from the State Welfare Department to issue some 65 Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) checks early, according to Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert.

It was erroneously reported in The Lincoln Star Saturday that Trabert had told the Lancaster County ADC mothers who staged a protest in his office Friday that Douglas County had received permission.

At that time, Trabert said that he had talked Friday morning with Gov. J. J. Exon and that no permission had been granted.

Lincoln Cyclist Hurt In Collision With Semi-Truck

Raymond C. Woodward, 23, of 2201 No. 1st, Lot 3, was listed in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital Monday after sustaining numerous injuries when his motorcycle collided with a semi-truck on Cornhusker, between 1st and the access road from Interstate 180.

Lincoln police reported that Woodward, westbound on Cornhusker, was in collision with the truck driven by Paul I. Aspen, 29, of Astoria, Ore., as the truck was attempting to pull out from the access road onto Cornhusker.

Woodward sustained numerous scrapes and bruises, along with head cuts which required stitches to close, police reported.

Jaycees To Hold Inaugural Ball

The Lincoln Jaycees will hold its annual inaugural ball Saturday at which time the new president, vice presidents, and board of directors will be honored.

Elected to the board of directors Monday were Robin Howell, Rod Johnson, Jim Saunders, Bob Frerichs, Bob Malone, Clyde Mauk, Jim Kinney, and Lyle Nelson.

Keep up with real depth reporting on government, state and community affairs in the Capital Section of the "Sunday Journal and Star."

decisions as to which destinations within a 600 mile radius they will guarantee next day delivery, Blount said.

Mail from special white topped air mail boxes located on major highways, in large shopping centers and outside post offices may be picked up and delivered directly to postal air mail facilities at airports.

Because the airlines have suffered economic reverses lately, Blount said "we've lost 700 flights in the past few months... mostly at night when we want service. We'll have to supplement in some cities with air taxis."

Still, he said, the savings through ZIP coding and mailing early would offset the "minimal" costs involved.

Lincoln On List

Washington (UPI) — The list of cities where the first national service goal of the Postal Service will be instituted as of April 22 includes Omaha, Lincoln and Grand Island, Neb.

Clairon Smith Promoted By Welfare Chief

State Welfare Director Lawrence Graham Monday announced that Clairon Smith has been promoted to chief of the income maintenance and field services division.

Smith, 52, has been with the department since 1956 as a field representative and has 10 years experience in county welfare administration.

Graham said Smith as one of the department's key division heads will have supervisory responsibility over welfare eligibility and payments in the counties.

Additionally, he said, the food stamp program will be assigned to Smith's division beginning May 1.

A 1942 graduate of Peru State College and a World War II veteran, Smith is married, has one child.

Union Not Yet Recognized By County Dept.

Although the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, (AFSCME) claims to have 70% of the employees of the Lancaster County Engineer's Department, the department as yet has not recognized the union as a bargaining agent.

According to County Engineer Walter Hoppe, a meeting was recently held with him, the county attorney and county commissioners with an AFSCME representative but no further meeting date was set until County Attorney Paul Douglas has time to study 1969 legislation which permits public employees to be organized.

AFSCME signed its first labor agreement in December and now represents a number of Lincoln city employees and some county employees in the state.

Hoppe noted that wages paid his employees are less than those paid city employees in similar lines of work.

Nixon Announces Plan To Help Disadvantaged Veterans

Washington (AP) — Contending the nation owes its Vietnam veterans an extra measure of help, President Nixon announced Monday a $1-million program to attract disadvantaged veterans to expanded GI bill job and education benefits.

Nixon said the Office of Economic Opportunity program is aimed at direct contact with the 350,000 Vietnam-era unemployed veterans by cadres of former GIs from poor backgrounds who are now studying under the GI bill.

"We owe these men a debt of gratitude for their service — but we also owe them something more," the President said. "The dismaying fact is that unemployment among Vietnam-era veterans still is significantly greater than it is among non-veterans in the same age bracket."

Low-Income Areas

The programs — administered for the OEO by the National League of Cities and the U.S.

Conference of Mayors under a $1,016,375 OEO grant is to start in low-income and blue-collar neighborhoods in ten cities on a demonstration basis.

Details were spelled out by 18 government officials and veterans involved in the program after an hour-long meeting with the President.

Former infantry Lt. Robert Penn, a Negro who already has been trying to attract disadvantaged veterans to GI bill benefits in his hometown of Buffalo, N.Y., said the primary beneficiaries of the GI bill have been men with high school educations.

School Dropout

"Somehow they're not reaching the less advantaged," Penn said. "What we're going to try to reach is the high school dropout. Veterans can talk to veterans better."

The cadres of former GIs already taking advantage of GI bill benefits are to recruit disadvantaged veterans not only for on-the-job training and education under the GI bill but for other programs including rehabilitation for drug-addicted men.

James F. Oates Jr., head of a Jobs for Veterans Program created by the President last October, said 350,000 veterans now are unemployed.

PRE-COLUMBIAN COLLECTION by WAVERLY

Exclusively at Miller & Paine

Authentic Collection of Designs inspired by the Pre-Columbian Culture of Central and South America, and adapted by Waverly for contemporary living.

The world has just rediscovered the magnificence of Pre-Columbian arts and handicrafts. Waverly has created this fabric collection of patterns and wovens inspired by motifs found in the ancient ruins of Pre-Columbian Central and South America.

The drapery and matching upholstery motifs in stripes, geometric forms, woven textures were taken from the pottery and buildings of the Mayan and Aztec areas. The colors are earth tones, but in many cases the earth tones mean the products of the earth... the gaily colored tropical foliage of the area.

Waverly's modern technology has given us new materials from which we have created a contemporary concept of the art. Winton Blount Promises Quicker Mail Delivery

Washington (UPI) — By summer, Americans will have one-day, air mail service from cities within 600 miles and second-day delivery from most other major cities in the continental United States, Postmaster General Winton M. Blount promised Monday.

Pledging similar delivery goals soon will be announced for first-class mail, Blount told reporters. "This is the first time the postal service has ever stuck its neck out like this. It's a very important first step on the road to improving service to the American people."

The better service Blount promised will be accompanied by higher rates. Effective May 16, air mail will climb from 10 to 11 cents and first-class mail from 6 to 8 cents.

24% In 1 Day
Approximately 2.25 billion of the annual 82 billion pieces of mail carried in this country is air mail. At present, Blount said only 24% of it is arriving within one day and only 70% by the second day.

Crime Group Files Outline Of Spending

The State Crime Commission has filed with federal authorities its outline for spending $2.4 million in federal money which would be allocated to the state under a 1968 law.

The federal dollars would be matched by $882,344 put up in matching money by local or state governments.

Nebraska's 1971 federal allocation under the 1968 Safe Streets and Crime Control Act compares with last year's funding for $1.3 million.

Projects being considered by the commission for federal funding will range from daily use equipment such as guns and handcuffs to psychological testing for men seeking employment as law officers.

The commission budget has already been approved by Gov. J. J. Exon.

Nursing Home Administrators Hold Workshop

Some 110 administrators of Nebraska nursing homes gathered in Lincoln Monday for a day-long workshop dealing with library services available to nursing homes and the psychological problems of the aging.

Featured speaker on the library services was Mrs. Frances Warnsholz, moderator librarian for the Nebraska Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped; while Dr. Beverly T. Mead addressed the group on the aging's psychological problems.

Dr. Mead is the chairman of the psychiatry department at Creighton University School of Medicine, in Omaha.

Other speakers at the Nebraska Nursing Homes Assn. workshop included Mrs. Beverly Bishop, of the Kearney Public Library; Mrs. Loreta Tiemann, of the Lincoln City Library; and Joseph Ridgway, of Providence Hospital.

By next July, he predicted the improved deliveries will be 95% effective for all ZIP-coded air mail deposited in 3,500 special cities by 4 p.m. weekdays. The project to speed up air mail delivery gets underway April 22, Blount said.

There is presently about a 25% advantage in using air mail over first class but Blount predicted the new delivery standards "will widen that difference."

'Better Performance'
"Air mail today has a measurably better performance," he said. "We're going to come along with other service standards so the customer can choose which he wants to pay for."

Postmasters in the 500 cities selected for the air mail standards will make their own

Douglas County Didn't Have OK To Issue Checks

Douglas County did not get permission last week from the State Welfare Department to issue some 65 Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) checks early, according to Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert.

It was erroneously reported in The Lincoln Star Saturday that Trabert had told the Lancaster County ADC mothers who staged a protest in his office Friday that Douglas County had received permission.

At that time, Trabert said that he had talked Friday morning with Gov. J. J. Exon and that no permission had been granted.

Lincoln Cyclist Hurt In Collision With Semi-Truck

Raymond C. Woodward, 23, of 2201 No. 1st, Lot 3, was listed in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital Monday after sustaining numerous injuries when his motorcycle collided with a semi-truck on Cornhusker, between 1st and the access road from Interstate 180.

Lincoln police reported that Woodward, westbound on Cornhusker, was in collision with the truck driven by Paul I. Aspen, 29, of Astoria, Ore., as the truck was attempting to pull out from the access road onto Cornhusker.

Woodward sustained numerous scrapes and bruises, along with head cuts which required stitches to close, police reported.

Jaycees To Hold Inaugural Ball

The Lincoln Jaycees will hold its annual inaugural ball Saturday at which time the new president, vice presidents, and board of directors will be honored.

Elected to the board of directors Monday were Robin Howell, Rod Johnson, Jim Saunders, Bob Frerichs, Bob Malone, Clyde Mauk, Jim Kinney, and Lyle Nelson.

Keep up with real depth reporting on government, state and community affairs in the Capital Section of the "Sunday Journal and Star."

decisions as to which destinations within a 600 mile radius they will guarantee next day delivery, Blount said.

Mail from special white topped air mail boxes located on major highways, in large shopping centers and outside post offices may be picked up and delivered directly to postal air mail facilities at airports.

Because the airlines have suffered economic reverses lately, Blount said "we've lost 700 flights in the past few months... mostly at night when we want service. We'll have to supplement in some cities with air taxis."

Still, he said, the savings through ZIP coding and mailing early would offset the "minimal" costs involved.

Lincoln On List

Washington (UPI) — The list of cities where the first national service goal of the Postal Service will be instituted as of April 22 includes Omaha, Lincoln and Grand Island, Neb.

Clairon Smith Promoted By Welfare Chief

State Welfare Director Lawrence Graham Monday announced that Clairon Smith has been promoted to chief of the income maintenance and field services division.

Smith, 52, has been with the department since 1956 as a field representative and has 10 years experience in county welfare administration.

Graham said Smith as one of the department's key division heads will have supervisory responsibility over welfare eligibility and payments in the counties.

Additionally, he said, the food stamp program will be assigned to Smith's division beginning May 1.

A 1942 graduate of Peru State College and a World War II veteran, Smith is married, has one child.

Union Not Yet Recognized By County Dept.

Although the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, (AFSCME) claims to have 70% of the employees of the Lancaster County Engineer's Department, the department as yet has not recognized the union as a bargaining agent.

According to County Engineer Walter Hoppe, a meeting was recently held with him, the county attorney and county commissioners with an AFSCME representative but no further meeting date was set until County Attorney Paul Douglas has time to study 1969 legislation which permits public employees to be organized.

AFSCME signed its first labor agreement in December and now represents a number of Lincoln city employees and some county employees in the state.

Nixon Announces Plan To Help Disadvantaged Veterans

Washington (AP) — Contending the nation owes its Vietnam veterans an extra measure of help, President Nixon announced Monday a $1-million program to attract disadvantaged veterans to expanded GI bill job and education benefits.

Nixon said the Office of Economic Opportunity program is aimed at direct contact with the 350,000 Vietnam-era unemployed veterans by cadres of former GIs from poor backgrounds who are now studying under the GI bill.

"We owe these men a debt of gratitude for their service — but we also owe them something more," the President said. "The dismaying fact is that unemployment among Vietnam-era veterans still is significantly greater than it is among non-veterans in the same age bracket."

Low-Income Areas
The programs — administered for the OEO by the National League of Cities and the U.S.

Conference of Mayors under a $1,016,375 OEO grant is to start in low-income and blue-collar neighborhoods in ten cities on a demonstration basis.

Details were spelled out by 18 government officials and veterans involved in the program after an hour-long meeting with the President.

Former infantry Lt. Robert Penn, a Negro who already has been trying to attract disadvantaged veterans to GI bill benefits in his hometown of Buffalo, N.Y., said the primary beneficiaries of the GI bill have been men with high school educations.

School Dropout
"Somehow they're not reaching the less advantaged," Penn said. "What we're going to try to reach is the high school dropout. Veterans can talk to veterans better."

The cadres of former GIs already taking advantage of GI bill benefits are to recruit disadvantaged veterans not only for on-the-job training and education under the GI bill but for other programs including rehabilitation for drug-addicted men.

James F. Oates Jr., head of a Jobs for Veterans Program created by the President last October, said 350,000 veterans now are unemployed.

Oscar Scramble To Be Settled Thursday Night

By VERNON SCOTT

Hollywood (UPI)—The Oscar scramble will be settled Thursday night, answering some momentous questions for show biz, but hardly important enough to shake up, say, the Kremlin or the Suez crises.

But these are the questions:

Will Academy members overcome their bias and vote an Oscar to George C. Scott, which most railbirds believe he clearly deserves?

Will "Love Story" run away with most awards because of its boxoffice popularity?

If Scott wins the statuette, who will pick it up for him?

What will Frank Sinatra say on accepting the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award? Does this constitute a public appearance for the retired singer? Or a comeback?

Of the 20 acting nominees the only previous winners are Helen Hayes and Melvin Douglas—will they win again?

The answers will not be known until some guy looking uncomfortable in white tie and tails hands over the envelope for the final award for the best picture of the year, concluding the NBC telecast.

But professional educated guessers average out this way:

Best Picture—"Love Story," Best Actor—George C. Scott, "Patton."
Best Actress—Jane Alexander, "The Great White Hope."
Best Supporting Actor—Chief Dan George "Little Big Man."
Best Supporting Actress—Helen Hayes, "Airport."
Best Director—Arthur Hiller, "Love Story."

"I want to do the hula... Just like they do in Honolulu..."
The morning hula lesson is the greatest thing to hit Hawaii since canned poi. Every tourist hotel gives free hula lessons. "Long time ago we charge fo' da hula lesson. But now da mainland chick, she get it fo' nothing."

You can do the hula lesson as a player or a spectator. Mainland wahines go through a sea change coming to the Paradise Islands. They have no restraint about wiggling their bottoms in front of a large audience.

In the warm morning, the mainland ladies line up in their new, sackie muumuus. The Hawaii lady instructor stands before them, hands in the "flying birds" position?

The record player begins: "Oh, we're going to the hula..."

The hands begin to move. The posteriors revolve.

At the outside breakfast tables, all of us cloven-hoof Pans sip our Kona coffee. The mynah birds come under the tables to pick up the crumbs. The air is warm as mother love. And there's nothing like a dame.

"The hula is the greatest thing that ever happened to the tourist business," said Lyle Guslander. Gus is Mr. Hawaii Hotels.

"Nothing turns a mainland housewife on like doing the hula."

"I mean, she may be pushing a little age. The hips have got a spread that didn't used to be there. Life at home has been peanut butter sandwiches in the brown bag for the kids. She's fighting dishwater hands."

"She hops a plane for $85. And five hours later she's in the warm trade wind. A glamor girl making hands like birds flying on the beach at Waikiki."

Well, here's a warm, blue morning at Kaanapali Beach, Island of Maui. Our cottage at the Royal Lahaina is under the bending coco palms, beside the ink-blue sea.

I work barefoot on the lanai, the trade wind ruffling the typewriter paper. Steaming island coffee on the table. Fresh pineapple juice on ice.

Some years ago when Gus ran the Moana at Waikiki, they gave the first hula lessons in the courtyard under the big banyan tree. It was like a stadium.

Gus said: "I should have quit as manager and taken the coffee concession. We drew more morning hula watchers than the All-Pro games."

"And all the ama ama come swimming to me..."

The hula is known all over Polynesia. The Hawaiian version is sexy and langorous. The Tahiti type is sexy and giggles so hard you'd think something would break off.

The hula tells a story. (Keep your eyes on the hands, brudda. Da story's in da hands.) Used to be they told risqué stories.

Used to be the hula celebrated Hawaiian kings. Celebrated what a great dude he was with the chicks. It was a kingly compliment.

Now the hula tells how birds fly and fish swim and coco palms bend in the wind. Not as lively as the old hula soap operas.

"When we first started at the Moana, I didn't think many tourist wahines would get up and do it," said Gus. "Fact, I threw in a few shills. But everybody turned out. You couldn't get them to quit. Five hours from home and they're swinging on a warm beach in Hawaii."

Man's Collie Gets Religion

Frametown, W. Va. (AP) — About a year ago, Alton James' dog Laddie got religion.

Now he rarely misses a service at the Methodist Church about a mile from the James' home in Braxton County, West Virginia.

Laddie, a seven-year-old Collie, is a hand-shaker — a trait that makes him right at home at church.

"I don't go every Sunday," Laddie's owner confessed, "but the dog hardly ever misses. I don't know how he knows that it's Sunday."

Name The Champions

Even the housewife, whose only association with fighting is the one connected with trying to get her seven-year-old to wear his overalls when needed, can tell you that Joe Frazier is the heavyweight champion of the world.

But we'll bet there aren't many real fight fans who can even name you all eight world champions.

Frazier and welterweight champion Billy Backus of Syracuse, N.Y., are the only U.S. fighters on the World Boxing Association's list of recognized champions.

The WBA in its latest listings, after the Frazier-Muhammad Ali bout, doesn't even list Ali among the top 10 contenders.

You remember it was the WBA which stripped Ali of his title when he refused induction into the Army and it hasn't listed him since. But you also might remember that the WBA refused to list Frazier among its top eight contenders for Ali's vacated throne when it started its elimination series to select a successor.

Frazier was in the WBA doghouse also because he refused to go along with the signing of a contract with ABC-TV's Wide World of Sports which was a co-sponsor of sorts with the WBA in those elimination matches.

It wasn't until Frazier whipped Jimmy Ellis, winner of the eliminations, a year ago that the WBA recognized him.

Give up on naming the other WBA champions? They're light heavyweight Vicente Paul Rondon of Venezuela, middleweight Carlos Monzon of Argentina, lightweight Ken Buchanan of Scotland, featherweight Sho Saito of Japan, bantamweight Ruben Olivares of Mexico and flyweight Masao Ohba of Japan.

After his recent loss to Denny Moyer in Las Vegas, the WBA has dropped Omaha Art Hernandez from its list of top ten middleweights.

Thanksgiving Day Menu

In case you want to plan your Thanksgiving Day routine early, here's the TV football schedule: Nebraska at Oklahoma (afternoon) and Georgia-Georgia Tech (night) on ABC-TV; Kansas City at Detroit (11 a.m.) on NBC-TV; Los Angeles at Dallas (3:30 p.m.) on CBS-TV.

If there's anything you might need more than two TV sets, it would have to be two sets of eyeballs.

The Knolls Golf Club, under John Boosalis, has begun work on an additional nine holes to the par-3 layout. John also is eyeing an expansion of the swimming pool which would make it the largest pool in Lincoln, topping even Woods Pool.

According to United Airlines which flies 20 of the 24 major league baseball teams, the San Francisco Giants will be the flyingest team in either league, logging 35,528 miles.

The Oklahoma all-opponent basketball team didn't include a single member of the Big Eight champion Kansas Jayhawks, but the Sooners voted the Jayhawks the best overall team they faced.

Only two golf balls tested recently by the USGA failed to conform to the Rules of Golf with Arnold Palmer's 100 compression ball flunking the velocity test and Top-Flite failing both the weight and size tests.

Recreation Tour Of Hawaii—Guess When

A tour is being organized for Nebraska park and recreational professionals, advisory park and recreation board members, city councilmen and other persons who are interested in seeing the latest park and recreation trends and developments in, of all places, the State of Hawaii.

And when would you guess the tour is scheduled for—that's right, Dec. 1-3, which just happens to coincide with Nebraska playing football in Hawaii.

—BENCH BELTS TWO—

Reds' Big Machine Begins To Move

By Associated Press

Cincinnati's Reds finally began playing like the National League champions they are Monday night as they crashed four home runs, two by John Bench, to tie Atlanta, 7-3.

The Big Red Machine, which had clanked through four season-opening losses, also got round-trippers from winning pitcher Jim McGlothlin, 1-1, and Pete Rose to equal the total run production in those four setbacks.

In other games, Minnesota blanked Kansas City, 2-0, San Francisco zipped San Diego, 5-0; Oakland whipped Milwaukee, 5-0; Boston outlasted Washington, 10-7; California nipped the Chicago White Sox, 3-2; Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia, 4-3, in 11 innings and St. Louis topped Houston, 4-3.

Bench drilled the first of his two-run blasts in the first inning. McGlothlin, who singled and scored on a passed ball in the third, led off the fifth with his homer and, after a walk, Bench connected again.

Rose unloaded the Reds' final shot in the seventh before Orlando Cepeda connected for Atlanta in the eighth.

Bert Blyleven's three-hitter wrecked the Royals' home opener. Jim Holt singled home Harmon Killebrew in the second with the only run the Twins needed and Rod Carew singled in the seventh sent Cesar Tovar home.

Gaylord Perry also fashioned a three-hitter and struck out 11 as the Giants won their home debut, bombing the Padres for all their runs in the second inning, two on Alan Gallagher's home run.

Joe Rudi and Rick Monday of the A's backed up Roland Fingers' four-hitter with third-inning home runs to sink the Brewers in a rain-delayed game.

Rico Petocelli's homer capped a sixth-run seventh and two-run singles by Reggie Smith and pitcher Ray Culp enabled the Red Sox to open a 10-2 lead before the Senators rallied for five runs in the ninth.

Jim Fregosi's pinch double in the eighth lifted the Angels into a tie and Sandy Alomar singled home to beat the White Sox, who got solo homers by former Californians Rich Reinhardt and Jay Johnstone.

Richie Allen and Steve Garvey slammed home runs and Jim Lefebvre socked a two-run triple to spark Los Angeles to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs on the west coast night game.

Winning Pro Grand Slam May Be Just A Dream

... NICKLAUS' DREAM SHATTERED; U.S., BRITISH OPENS WON'T BE SAME

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Forty-eight hours ago golf's professional grand slam appeared to be within the reach of man—at least one man, Jack Nicklaus. Today it looms as an impossible dream.

Dark-horse Charlie Coody's victory in the 35th Masters revealed the kind of pitfalls that face a player seeking to win all the major championships—the PGA, Masters, U.S. and British Opens—in the frame of a single year.

"I don't think anybody will ever do it," said South Africa's Gary Player. "The competition is just too tough, the odds too great."

"There are four tournaments in different seasons, on different courses, under different conditions. A man would have to be at his very best on each of these occasions and depend on every one of some 100 opponents not being in best form. It's just too much to imagine."

Gene Littler agreed.

"Who can expect the ball to bounce just right for one man that many times?" said Littler.

Coody's triumph in the Masters Sunday crushed the hopes of Nicklaus, rated the world's best player and a winner earlier in the year of the first leg on the slam—the PGA.

"I thought I might do it," said Nicklaus. "I already had the PGA, which is usually the toughest to win. I was well prepared for this tournament as I have ever been in my life."

"I looked forward to the U.S. Open at Merion (Pa.) and the British Open, to be played on courses I liked. Now I'll be playing those tournaments with a different feeling. I'll try to win, of course, but the pressure won't be the same."

Nicklaus' hopes looked bright when he started the final round tied with Coody at 209. However, Coody shot a final-round 70

while Nicklaus, never getting a birdie charge, settled for a 72 which tied him with young John Miller two shots back of Coody's winning 279.

"I gave it the best I could, but it wasn't good enough," said Nicklaus.

Four players have won the four big titles at least once and Nicklaus has done it twice over, never in a single year. The others are Player, Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen.

Bob Jones' 1930 grand slam was a phenomenal feat for an amateur. He swept the British and U.S. Open and the British and U.S. amateurs. The amateur events were hazardous because they involved 18-hole matches in the earlier rounds.

"I think the pro grand slam is five times tougher than Jones' slam," said Player.

Gamblers fix the odds of a pro slam at 1,296 to 1. This figure is arrived at by assuming that a man is a 6-1 favorite in the four events and then multiplying. The actual odds are probably five times greater.

Nicklaus and Coody both returned home after the Masters and will not come face to face again until the Tournament of Champions two weeks hence at La Costa in California. Both are skipping Pensacola this week.

Coody's first prize was worth $25,000 but there were accruing benefits. He qualifies for the World Series of Golf, where he is assured of $5,000 and can make $50,000. He gets $2,000 at least for playing in the Tournament of Champions and his victory put him in the PGA match play championship, where the low prize is $1,200.

Mark McCormack, the player management genius, contends the Masters green coat can be worth $1 million to the winner. It hasn't always been so. Coody will have to wait and see.

Elgert Hurling Preserves Win

... GILMORE WINS NIGHTCAP

By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer

Pat Elgert remembered his high school baseball lessons well.

The senior right-hander who had pitched just 11 innings in his first three seasons at Nebraska was called upon to perform relief duty Monday afternoon at the NU diamond and he employed the same repertoire that earned him a baseball scholarship to NU.

He completed two innings and preserved a 10-4 victory for starter Glen Gilmore that earned the Cornhuskers a split in a doubleheader with South Dakota State, which won the opener, 10-5.

"I was a little tired coming in there after playing the first and part of the second games," he says. "That's partly why I walked three batters."

Elgert, who was a pitcher at Fairbury High School, was pitching in place of junior Gene Stohs, who is probably lost for the remainder of the season due to a broken finger on his pitching hand. Elgert's performance earned him a starting berth in Saturday's finale of a three-game set at the NU diamond against Kansas State.

"He'll pitch against K-State," says NU coach Tony Sharpe, who Huskers advanced to a 4-9 overall record with the split against the non-conference Jackrabbits. "You are never really satisfied when you only win one game, but we got to look at some kids and hopefully we can come up with some pitching."

Pitching trends told the story Monday as NU employed three hurlers — Bob Munson, Jay Weyers and John Husman — in the first game which saw the Brookings crew zip to a 9-1 lead before Munson's three-run homer guided the Cornhuskers back into contention. But SDSU used just two pitchers as did Nebraska in the second game when Sharpe's outfit slammed five pitchers for 12 hits.

Back-to-back homers by Gilmore and Steve Achelpohl sparked NU to a 7-1 second-inning advantage and thereafter, the outcome was never in doubt as shortstop Pete Bethell rapped three hits. Achelpohl, Elgert and rightfielder Joe Baker contributed their share with two hits each as the Huskers enjoyed their most productive run-scoring contest this season.

While Elgert, who cracked four hits for the afternoon, said he enjoys hitting, he added that as long as he plays, the position is immaterial.

"No, I really didn't expect to be pitching today — but we're down to our last star," the 6-3, 190-pounder relates. "It's really a tossup which I like more—hitting or pitching, but wherever I get to play is fine with me."

Sharpe added that he didn't tell the Huskers anything between games which accounted for the Huskers snapping their hitting drudgeries.

"What could I tell them?" he asked. "We didn't get much pitching that first game and we knew we could do better than what we showed and we did — in the second game."

Nebraska opens its home Big Eight season Friday with a doubleheader against Kansas State beginning at 1:30 p.m. and a Saturday single tilt starting at 1 p.m. NU stands 1-2 in the Big Eight scramble while the Wildcats are 4-5.

helping Jim Sobieszczyk prepare for competition in the decathlon. Sobieszczyk finished sixth in the national meet last year with 7,187 points but has a goal of 8,000 points for this year which should place him among the top three.

And Foster is confident Sobieszczyk may reach his goal.

"Jim really didn't start concentrating on the decathlon last year until he finished competition at the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) meet in June," Foster said. Sobieszczyk won the high jump at the NAIA with a leap of 7-0.

"He has the ability and desire to be one of the best if he doesn't get hurt," Foster continued.

helped get Sobieszczyk interested in the decathlon along with Foster. Richards appeared on the campus here last spring for a lecture.

After the talk, Sobieszczyk talked to Richards and Richards agreed to stay to see him work out. Richards was impressed with Sobieszczyk's abilities and told him he had potential for the decathlon.

There was one catch, however, Sobieszczyk hadn't thrown the shot or discus which are decathlon events.

"I hadn't tried either because I was too small," Sobieszczyk explained. "I was only 5-9 and weighed about 135 when I was in high school."

"I did most of my growing after I came to college and put on weight by working with coach Foster's weight lifting program."

Sobieszczyk didn't start working out with weights extensively until his junior year here. "Jim played basketball and was always late in coming out for track," Foster said.

"I convinced the basketball coach to let Jim go since he wasn't going to play much and I felt he had more potential in track. Jim went 6-6 his junior year in the high jump after not clearing much over 6-0 in previous years."

Sobieszczyk says the additional weight he put on by weight lifting has given him more strength and has helped him jump higher.

However, Foster feels Sobieszczyk is about the right weight now for the decathlon. "If Jim would weigh much more, he'd be handicapped in the pole vault and high jump," Foster pointed out.

"A lot of persons think an athlete will become 'muscle-bound' if he lifts a lot of weights, but he won't if the program is properly administered."

Both Sobieszczyk's father and uncle attended Kearney but Foster says one of the

Sobieszczyk credits several reasons for the switch to the decathlon.

"A 7-0 high jumper anymore is getting to be common," Sobieszczyk said. "I also felt I could compete for several more years in the decathlon."

"Bill Toomey was 28 when he won the decathlon at the Olympics in 1968 and I'm only 21."

The Nebraska weather, he admits also presents a problem. "I try to work out twice daily," Sobieszczyk said. "The morning workout is devoted to distance running while I work on techniques, sprints and weights in the afternoon. I have a calendar marked to tell me what to work on each day."

Sobieszczyk, who was graduated at the semester

here and is a graduate assistant, teaches two classes and helps coach the college track team.

He does feel he's in good shape with only the finer points now needing work. An example of this is the two marks he's achieved in the shot and discus — his two weakest events last year.

Sobieszczyk threw the shot only 33 feet last year but has a toss of 43 feet already and in the discus his best last year was 120 compared to 130 this spring.

The first test to see how good Sobieszczyk has improved will be next week at the Drake Relays. "We'll go over on Tuesday with the actual competition on Wednesday and Thursday," Foster says.

"Jim will lose about seven pounds during the two days he competes so he won't work out three or four days prior to the meet. I hope he can go to several meets before the nationals because he'll need the experience."

The nationals are June 11-12 at Porterville, Cal. and placing at the top of this meet is most important.

"I want to go to the Pan American Games and have to place high at the national meet to qualify," Sobieszczyk explained. "If I don't qualify for the Pan American Games, I want to go to another Olympic decathlon training camp or to Bill Toomey's camp."

Last summer Sobieszczyk spent three weeks at Boulder Colo., by special invitation training for the decathlon.

"After going to Boulder, I set goals in each event and hit every one except the high jump," he said. "I have set my goals for this year and I pretty well know what I'm capable of doing. I should finish up higher if they are reached."

The Olympics is the goal for next year and Foster thinks Sobieszczyk will make the American team in 1976 if not next year. "He could become the first Nebraskan to compete in the Olympics in the decathlon but it all starts next week at Drake," Foster concluded.

"He'll have to do well there and other meets along the way before getting to the Olympics."

helping Jim Sobieszczyk prepare for competition in the decathlon. Sobieszczyk finished sixth in the national meet last year with 7,187 points but has a goal of 8,000 points for this year which should place him among the top three.

And Foster is confident Sobieszczyk may reach his goal.

"Jim really didn't start concentrating on the decathlon last year until he finished competition at the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) meet in June," Foster said. Sobieszczyk won the high jump at the NAIA with a leap of 7-0.

"He has the ability and desire to be one of the best if he doesn't get hurt," Foster continued.

That also is the opinion of former Olympic decathlon champion Bob Richards who helped get Sobieszczyk interested in the decathlon along with Foster. Richards appeared on the campus here last spring for a lecture.

After the talk, Sobieszczyk talked to Richards and Richards agreed to stay to see him work out. Richards was impressed with Sobieszczyk's abilities and told him he had potential for the decathlon.

There was one catch, however, Sobieszczyk hadn't thrown the shot or discus which are decathlon events.

"I hadn't tried either because I was too small," Sobieszczyk explained. "I was only 5-9 and weighed about 135 when I was in high school."

"I did most of my growing after I came to college and put on weight by working with coach Foster's weight lifting program."

Sobieszczyk didn't start

working out with weights extensively until his junior year here. "Jim played basketball and was always late in coming out for track," Foster said.

"I convinced the basketball coach to let Jim go since he wasn't going to play much and I felt he had more potential in track. Jim went 6-6 his junior year in the high jump after not clearing much over 6-0 in previous years."

Sobieszczyk says the additional weight he put on by weight lifting has given him more strength and has helped him jump higher.

However, Foster feels Sobieszczyk is about the right weight now for the decathlon. "If Jim would weigh much more, he'd be handicapped in the pole vault and high jump," Foster pointed out.

"A lot of persons think an athlete will become 'muscle-bound' if he lifts a lot of weights, but he won't if the program is properly administered."

Both Sobieszczyk's father and uncle attended Kearney but Foster says one of the main reasons Sobieszczyk came to Kearney was "No one else was interested in Jim because of his size."

Sobieszczyk credits several reasons for the switch to the decathlon.

"A 7-0 high jumper any more is getting to be common," Sobieszczyk said. "I also felt I could compete for several more years in the decathlon."

"Bill Toomey was 28 when he won the decathlon at the Olympics in 1968 and I'm only 21."

The Nebraska weather, he admits also presents a problem. "I try to work out twice daily," Sobieszczyk said.

"The morning workout is devoted to distance running while I work on techniques, sprints and weights in the afternoon. I have a calendar marked to tell me what to work on each day."

"If I didn't have my workouts planned out, I'd never get anything done because there just isn't enough time."

Sobieszczyk, who was graduated at the semester

here and is a graduate assistant, teaches two classes and helps coach the college track team.

He does feel he's in good shape with only the finer points now needing work. An example of this is the two marks he's achieved in the shot and discus — his two weakest events last year.

Sobieszczyk threw the shot only 33 feet last year but has a toss of 43 feet already and in the discus his best last year was 120 compared to 130 this spring.

The first test to see how good Sobieszczyk has improved will be next week at the Drake Relays. "We'll go over on Tuesday with the actual competition on Wednesday and Thursday," Foster says.

"Jim will lose about seven pounds during the two days he competes so he won't work out three or four days prior to the meet. I hope he can go to several meets before the nationals because he'll need the experience."

The nationals are June 11-12 at Porterville, Cal. and placing at the top of this meet is most important.

"I want to go to the Pan American Games and have to place high at the national meet to qualify," Sobieszczyk explained. "If I don't qualify for the Pan American Games, I want to go to another Olympic decathlon training camp or to Bill Toomey's camp."

Last summer Sobieszczyk spent three weeks at Boulder Colo., by special invitation training for the decathlon.

"After going to Boulder, I set goals in each event and hit every one except the high jump," he said. "I have set my goals for this year and I pretty well know what I'm capable of doing. I should finish up higher if they are reached."

The Olympics is the goal for next year and Foster thinks Sobieszczyk will make the American team in 1976 if not next year. "He could become the first Nebraskan to compete in the Olympics in the decathlon but it all starts next week at Drake," Foster concluded.

"He'll have to do well there and other meets along the way before getting to the Olympics."

—WINDS SLOW ANGLING—

Luck Across State Up For Fishermen

Fishing success in Nebraska increased considerably over the weekend, as bass, walleye, catfish, and trout began hitting the baits and lures offered. Angling pressure was down, however, due to high winds over most of the state.

PANHANDLE

Lake McConaughy (Ogallala) — rainbow trout up to 9 pounds hitting marshmallows and artificials in the Martin Bay and Sports Service Bay areas; good success on channel catfish averaging 2 pounds, taking shad at the west end of the lake.

Lake Ogallala — rainbow trout averaging 1 pound on trout eggs; Pine and White Clay Creeks (Sheridan County) — good success on 10-inch brown trout on worms.

Soldier Creek — brown trout up to 14 inches hitting worms and minnows; Red Creek, Pumpkin Creek, Tub Springs — rainbow trout run has dropped off considerably.

Nite Mile Creek — Some trout still running, hitting worms and trout eggs; Island Lake (Crescent Lake National Wildlife Refuge) — northern pike to 5 pounds taking beefsteak, liver, and artificials.

Lake Minatare — 11 1/2-pound walleye taking artificials; 10-inch crappie hitting minnows and ligs; 10-inch perch on minnows.

SANDHILLS

Sandpits adjacent to Platte River and 1-80 lakes (Dawson and Custer counties) — catfish averaging 12 inches taking liver; walleye up to 14 inches and smallmouth bass hitting minnows.

Enders Reservoir — catfish from 2 to 5 pounds on shad; 10-inch crappie on minnows; Swanton Reservoir (Trenton) — catfish.

SOUTHWEST

Gavins Point Dam Tailwaters (Creighton) — walleyes and sauger up to 5 pounds hitting minnows and deep-running artificials, with occasional limits being taken; occasional catfish to 2 pounds taking night crawlers and liver; white bass up to 11 pounds hitting minnows; Grove Lake (Royal) — 10-inch trout on minnows, worms, and small artificials; largemouth bass to 2 pounds hitting artificials and minnows; 10-inch crappie on minnows.

Missouri River (Niobrara area) — catfish up to 8 pounds hitting worms and minnows; (Knox County) few sauger and walleye up to 5 pounds on minnows; Niobrara River (Near Niobrara) — catfish up to 8 pounds hitting minnows and worms.

Pheasants To Be Tallied

Rural mail carriers throughout Nebraska will soon begin the annual spring tally of pheasants they spot along their routes, and the data gathered will help Game Commission biologists determine the status of the ringneck breeding population.

Biologists will put the data alongside similar surveys conducted in the past to get an idea of how the breeding population compares to other years.

The rural mailmen have cooperated in such counts since 1945, giving game biologists information valuable in pheasant management. One advantage this survey has over other methods is that it covers the entire state during a 4-day period, this year from April 19 through 22.

Some 700 of the approximately 800 carriers asked to fill out survey cards do so each year, giving a much wider sample than would be possible using the limited number of game technicians and conservation officers that are available.

In addition to the spring count, rural mailmen participate in two other surveys annually. One is the post-season sex ratio count conducted in mid-winter, which gives an indication of the year's pheasant harvest. The other is conducted in early fall and gives an indication of the summer's production of young birds. The early fall count by the carriers is one of the more accurate indicators of the ringneck population that will be available for the fall hunt.

Scott Urges Softer Policy On Combinations Of Drugs

Washington (UPI) — At the drug industry's behest, Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott has joined about 100 other senators and House members in urging a softer Food and Drug Administration (FDA) policy on a widely used class of drugs, it was learned Monday.

In a letter to FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards, Scott criticized the agency's proposal to stiffen standards for combination drugs and suggested it was contrary to a 1968 campaign pledge by President Nixon.

"I am seriously concerned that these regulations, in practice, will have an adverse impact upon the pharmaceutical industry, the medical profession, and on society as a whole," Scott wrote.

Unidentified Source

Scott's letter was dated April 8. UPI obtained a copy from a source who asked not to be identified. A spokesman for the Republican leader acknowledged the letter was written at the request of drug manufacturers headquartered in his home state of Pennsylvania.

An FDA source said the agency had received similar letters from approximately 100 other senators and House members. "The letters are too stereotyped to be individual," the source said. "There's no question they were prompted by the drug industry."

Combinations are medicines combining one or more drugs. They include about half the drugs presently marketed, both prescription and nonprescription.

Ban Proposed

FDA proposed Feb. 17 that such drugs be banned unless the manufacturer proves that each ingredient contributes to the medicine's effectiveness. Drug firms have complained that strict enforcement of such a policy would force many widely used medicines off the market, including a number of well known nonprescription remedies.

Edwards could not be reached for comment. But he told newsmen last week he had decided to use softer policies in judging nonprescription medicines as compared with prescription drugs, and cited mail from Congress as evidence of the issue's importance.

In his letter, Scott said, "It has been suggested . . . that the FDA proposal will result in an unjustifiable interference with the prescribing and use of important drug products."

"If this assumption is correct," Scott continued, "such action would be in sharp contrast with the Nixon administration's 1968 platform pledge of 'diligence' in 'protecting the traditional patient-doctor relationship and the integrity of the medical practitioner.'"

Snow Slides Kill Nine Persons In Austrian Alps

Vienna, Austria (AP) — More than a dozen snow slides in Austria's mountain areas have killed at least nine persons. Many others were rescued and taken to hospitals.

The slides Sunday and Monday were set off by high temperatures and warm winds.

Three slides were reported Monday in Austria's westernmost province, Vorarlberg, and police said two women were killed by a 600-foot-wide slide that piled up snow 12 feet high on a road between the towns of Warth and Hochkrumbach.

Three more tourists were temporarily buried by an avalanche near the resort of Zuers in the Arlberg area. They were not hurt.

During the Easter weekend, four Frenchmen, two Austrians and a West German schoolgirl died under masses of snow in Salzburg, Tyrol and Styria provinces.

Widow Files Suit Against Augustana

Sioux Falls, S. D. (UPI)—The widow of an Augustana College staff member killed in a 1969 plane crash is suing the school for $125,000.

Mrs. Mitzi Anderson, who is now a Minnesota resident, brought the action in U.S. District Court here. She contends the school had an oral agreement with her husband, Frayne, providing life insurance in that amount while he was piloting a plane on college business.

Mrs. Anderson, who brought the action for herself and four daughters, further contends that Augustana president Charles Balcer and Jean Holland, vice president for financial affairs, had assured Anderson that such a policy had been obtained and was in force before the crash on or about Jan. 11, 1969.

Anderson, the school's debate coach and four student debaters were killed in the crash, which occurred in Nebraska. They were returning to Sioux Falls from Colorado when the accident occurred.

Unidentified Source
Scott's letter was dated April 8. UPI obtained a copy from a source who asked not to be identified. A spokesman for the Republican leader acknowledged the letter was written at the request of drug manufacturers headquartered in his home state of Pennsylvania.

An FDA source said the agency had received similar letters from approximately 100 other senators and House members. "The letters are too stereotyped to be individual," the source said. "There's no question they were prompted by the drug industry."

Combinations are medicines combining one or more drugs. They include about half the drugs presently marketed, both prescription and nonprescription.

Ban Proposed

FDA proposed Feb. 17 that such drugs be banned unless the manufacturer proves that each ingredient contributes to the medicine's effectiveness. Drug firms have complained that strict enforcement of such a policy would force many widely used medicines off the market, including a number of well known nonprescription remedies.

Edwards could not be reached for comment. But he told newsmen last week he had decided to use softer policies in judging nonprescription medicines as compared with prescription drugs, and cited mail from Congress as evidence of the issue's importance.

In his letter, Scott said, "It has been suggested . . . that the FDA proposal will result in an unjustifiable interference with the prescribing and use of important drug products."

"If this assumption is correct," Scott continued, "such action would be in sharp contrast with the Nixon administration's 1968 platform pledge of 'diligence' in 'protecting the traditional patient-doctor relationship and the integrity of the medical practitioner.'"

Snow Slides Kill Nine Persons In Austrian Alps

Vienna, Austria (AP) — More than a dozen snow slides in Austria's mountain areas have killed at least nine persons. Many others were rescued and taken to hospitals.

The slides Sunday and Monday were set off by high temperatures and warm winds.

Three slides were reported Monday in Austria's westernmost province, Vorarlberg, and police said two women were killed by a 600-foot-wide slide that piled up snow 12 feet high on a road between the towns of Warth and Hochkrumbach.

Three more tourists were temporarily buried by an avalanche near the resort of Zuers in the Arlberg area. They were not hurt.

During the Easter weekend, four Frenchmen, two Austrians and a West German schoolgirl died under masses of snow in Salzburg, Tyrol and Styria provinces.

Advance Strong in Stock Market

New York (AP) — A general feeling among investors that business was improving and that consumers were beginning to spend more because of renewed confidence in the economy appeared to be the key factors in the stock market's strong advance Monday.

The Jones & Laughlin announcement of a $10 million net for the first quarter, compared with a $77,000 loss the previous year was one sign investors might interpret as indication of an improved business picture.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial closed ahead 6.25 at 926.64.

Advances led declines 873 to 564 among 1,699 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted increased institutional activity, which helped push Big Board volume to 19.1 million shares, compared with 17.5 million shares last Thursday. Both exchanges were closed on Good Friday.

A total of 156 blocks were traded on the Big Board, compared with 128 large block trades Thursday.

Fed Steers Sell Steadily To Firm

Omaha (AP) — Trading on fed cattle turning fairly active here Monday on improved post-holiday demand and moderate to light marketings.

Fed steers and heifers sold fully steady to firm, steers in instances as much as 25 cents higher than last week's dull choice. Cows and other cattle classes were unchanged, undertone fully steady.

Locally, a load of high-choice to prime around 1,125 lb. fed steers was out in front at 33.60, choice in bulk down to 32.

Several loads of upper crust heifers drew 32.65-32.75, bulk choice 31.50-32.50.

Several shipments of choice and prime 450-525 lb. steer calves and short yearlings went out at 37.00-38.25. Top good and choice fleshy 875-1,000 lb. steers 31-32. Two loads of choice 654 lb. yearling heifers drew 31.65.

Strong demand and light post-holiday marketings sparked a strong to 100 higher butcher hog market. Offering 240 lbs. and down shaped up strong to mostly 50 cents higher while heavier weights took the cent to one dollar higher route on broad local inquiry. Sows sold 25 to 50 cents higher.

Most 190-240 lb. butchers cleared 16.50-17.50, around a load selected 1-25 200-225 lbs. topping at 17.50. Sows bunched at 14.50-15.25 for 340-625 lb. weights.

Fat lambs were steady to a dollar lower on a very light run, the full decline on fed woolled lambs and butcher ewes.

Few top 103 lb. new crop lambs 29.00. Choice and prime 104 lb. No. 1 pelt fed lambs 28.50.

Omaha (AP) — Trading on fed cattle turning fairly active here Monday on improved post-holiday demand and moderate to light marketings.

Fed steers and heifers sold fully steady to firm, steers in instances as much as 25 cents higher than last week's dull choice. Cows and other cattle classes were unchanged, undertone fully steady.

Locally, a load of high-choice to prime around 1,125 lb. fed steers was out in front at 33.60, choice in bulk down to 32.

Several loads of upper crust heifers drew 32.65-32.75, bulk choice 31.50-32.50.

Several shipments of choice and prime 450-525 lb. steer calves and short yearlings went out at 37.00-38.25. Top good and choice fleshy 875-1,000 lb. steers 31-32. Two loads of choice 654 lb. yearling heifers drew 31.65.

Strong demand and light post-holiday marketings sparked a strong to 100 higher butcher hog market. Offering 240 lbs. and down shaped up strong to mostly 50 cents higher while heavier weights took the cent to one dollar higher route on broad local inquiry. Sows sold 25 to 50 cents higher.

Most 190-240 lb. butchers cleared 16.50-17.50, around a load selected 1-25 200-225 lbs. topping at 17.50. Sows bunched at 14.50-15.25 for 340-625 lb. weights.

Fat lambs were steady to a dollar lower on a very light run, the full decline on fed woolled lambs and butcher ewes.

Advance Strong In Stock Mart

New York (AP) — A general feeling among investors that business was improving and that consumers were beginning to spend more because of renewed confidence in the economy appeared to be the key factors in the stock market's strong advance Monday.

The Jones & Laughlin announcement of a $10 million net for the first quarter, compared with a 977,000 loss the previous year was one sign investors might interpret as indication of an improved business picture.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed ahead 6.25 at 926.64.

Advances led declines 873 to 564 among 1,699 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted increased institutional activity, which helped push Big Board volume to 19.41 million shares, compared with 17.59 million shares last Thursday. Both exchanges were closed on Good Friday.

A total of 156 blocks were traded on the Big Board, compared with 128 large blocktrades Thursday.

Sentences Consistently Reduced For Killing Vietnamese

The New York Times

Washington — All 22 American servicemen who have been convicted of the premeditated murder of Vietnamese citizens were, like 1st Lt. William L. Calley, initially sentenced to life imprisonment.

But none of the other 21 sentences were retained as the cases moved through the process of military appeals. The longest sentence given, final approval was 35 years. Most of them were reduced to five to 10 years.

Military judicial records show that seven soldiers, 13 Marines, and one sailor were convicted of premeditated murder in Vietnam before Calley was found guilty of murdering 22 Vietnamese at My Lai and sentenced to two weeks ago to life imprisonment.

247 Other Crimes
The records further show that sentences for 247 other crimes against Vietnamese citizens, including lesser degrees of murder, robbery and rape, have been consistently reduced by reviewing authorities.

In one case, a soldier named Thomas C. Stevens was sentenced to life for the rape and premeditated murder of a Vietnamese girl he had helped to abduct. His commanding general reduced the sentence to 20 years, and the Military Board of Review cut it back to eight years. He was paroled last June 23 after having served three years and three months in prison.

Military convicts are generally eligible for parole after they have served one-third of their sentences or ten years whichever is less.

Unpremeditated Murder
In many cases, servicemen were originally charged with premeditated murder but were convicted of a lesser charge or had their convictions reduced during the appellate process, usually to unpremeditated murder.

So far as could be determined, however, none of the cases reached the President or the civilian courts, but were decided within the military system. President Nixon has announced he will review Calley's case personally.

Calley is believed to be the only officer convicted of murdering Vietnamese civilians and one of the few officers con-

Longest Sentence
The longest sentence on record is that of Jerry G. Louvier, who was initially convicted of unpremeditated murder in January 1967 and given 40 years in prison. His commanding general, as the convening authority of the court, reduced that to 35 years. The sentence was affirmed by the Military Board of Review, which corresponds to a civilian circuit court of appeals.

A case strikingly similar to Calley's was that of Staff Sgt. Walter Griffen, who was charged with the premeditated murder of a suspected Viet Cong prisoner in 1967.

During his trial, Griffen admitted shooting the prisoner but claimed that he had been ordered to do it by Lt. John L. Patrick Jr., his platoon leader, and Capt. Paul C. Ogg, his company commander.

Officers Acquitted
Whether either of the officers ever gave the order was never clearly determined, and both of them were acquitted of a similar charge of murder.

The judge, however, ruled that even if Griffen had received such an order, he was obliged not to obey it. In his instructions to the jury, he said that "as a matter of law, any such command, if in fact there was such a command, was an illegal order."

The judge said that "a soldier or airman is not an automaton but a reasoning agent who is under a duty to exercise judgment in obeying orders." He said that where orders "are so palpably illegal on their face that a man of ordinary sense and understanding would know them to be illegal, then the fact of obedience to the order of a superior officer will not protect a soldier for acts pursuant to such illegal orders."

Ruling Upheld
The ruling was upheld by each military court to which Griffen appealed including the highest military court, the Court of Military Appeals. Military judges cited field manuals, the Uniform Code of Military Justice, the Manual for Courts-Martial and scholarly works to sustain their ruling.

Griffen was initially convicted of unpremeditated murder and sentenced to 10 years in prison. That was reduced to 7 years by his commanding general, and a third then cut to 2 years by the board of review. He was returned to duty in the Army in December, 1968, after having been in prison for 17 months.

The board of review determined that Griffen had acted "without reflection and in honest obedience of a superior's order" while in a combat situation. It also noted his good service record and the acquittal of his two superior officers.

2 'Hell's Angels' Use Motorcycle As Bridal Altar

Marblethorpe, England (AP) — The bride wore a black leather jacket and boots. So did the groom. The altar was a motorcycle.

It was an Easter wedding of two members of "Hell's Angels," a motorcycle group, attended by about 50 compatriots and half a dozen police.

Cliff Gregory, 23, who calls himself the Hell's Angel president of Britain, performed the ceremony at this east coast resort.

Eric Stewart, 19, and Lorraine Boothby, 18, said they considered themselves properly married and would set up housekeeping together when they could find a place.

Banker Outbids Chase Manhattan For Hilton Hotel

San Juan, P. R. (AP) — Banker Enrique Campos Del Toro bought the San Geronimo Hilton Hotel at auction Monday for $8 million.

He bested the Chase Manhattan Bank—the only other bidder—which offered a maximum of $7.6 million.

Campos De Toro is the father-in-law of attorney Rene Aponte Caratini, the chief executive officer in the corporation which had owned the plush oceanfront hostelry.

In a telephone interview, Campos Del Toro stated that his son-in-law had no connection nor interest in the company which bought the hotel. The banker described the purchasing company—known as Antilles Mortgage Brokers Corp.—as his own.

Students Plan Big Dribble To Raise Funds For Youth

Omaha (AP) — A group of University of Nebraska Students plan to dribble a basketball the length of the state at $50 a mile, the proceeds to be used to help pay medical expenses of former NU student Gary Koepke.

The 18-year-old Koepke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koepke of Hoskins, is undergoing treatment at Clarkson Hospital in Omaha for Hodgkin's disease, a type of cancer. He is taking colchicine treatment and is staying at the home of Dr. S. L. Magiera.

The project would raise about $25,000, figuring the dribble distance at about 500 miles.

Koepke was an NU freshman when the disease forced him to drop out at mid-term. Fund-raising efforts were under-taken by fellow students at the Harper, Schramm and Smith dormitory complex when it was learned the family had no medical insurance.

Other efforts have raised about $1,000. Sponsors of the project said estimates of medical costs range as high as $50,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Koepke, who have 10 children, have had at least one child at NU for the past eight years.

Jim Kudrna is heading the Omaha committee. Another committee headed by Mike Woods of Grand Island is working in other areas of Nebraska, Kudrna said.

He said about 30 students have been lined up for the cross-state dribble starting May 5 on Highway 26 at the Wyoming line.

Other highways to be used are U.S. 30 from Ogallala to Grand Island, U.S. 94 to Lincoln and U.S. 6 to Omaha.

The students will dribble the ball a mile for every $50 donated.

Chivalry Brings Man $112 Loss
Vancouver, B. C. (AP) — Chivalry may not be dead, but for George Amos it may well be a thing of the past.

Amos went to the aid of a damsel in distress Monday when he saw two men apparently attacking her in a nearby lane.

The distress turned out to be all his. The men turned on Amos, robbed him of $112, and then fled — along with their woman companion.

GOOD SALES REPRESENTATIVE
CAN INCREASE HIS OWN INCOME! Because our men can continue to increase their own salary from year to year, they automatically provide themselves with a hedge against inflation. This is a position in LABORATORIES, nationally famous for its "Man Behind the Drum" and its qualified professional field representative for Southeastern Nebraska. This is an exclusive territory with no other salesmen or commissions—non-technical products. Chemical background not required. Here is an opportunity to join a growing over 50-year-old company which offers an enviable position in the sanitation chemical products field. If you have experience in sales, maintenance and cleaning products to schools, hospitals, institutions and industry, we are looking for you. Vigorous national advertising program. Working for yourself. We will train you. No experience. Send resume to Sales Manager, or call collect 219-34-3100, attention: Laboratories, P.O. Box 710, Huntington, Indiana 46750.

HELP WANTED
POSITION OPENING: Due to an increase in business we need a new employee. This is a permanent position with opportunity to advance with a progressive company. No canvassing, leads are provided. Training and advancement man complete. Include in letter: complete name, age, address and telephone number. Personal interview will be held. Reply STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL. Write to: Suite "A" 202 South 71st St. Omaha, Nebraska 68132

GOOD SALES REPRESENTATIVE
CAN INCREASE SALES INCOME!
Because our men can continue to increase their own salary from year to year, they automatically place themselves with a hedge against inflation. HUNTINGTON LABORATORIES, INC. is looking for its "Man Behind the Drum."
needs a qualified professional field representative to sell our products in Nebraska. This is an exclusive territory with no accounts. High commission, no overhead, excellent chemical background not required.
Hiring on permanent basis. Opportunity to join a growing over 60-year young company which holds an enviable position in the nation's chemical products field. If you have had experience in selling chemical products to schools, hospitals, industries, it is helpful but not essential. Vigorous national advertising program. Working for Huntington is like being in business for yourself. Without the headaches. We will train you in your territory. Write for details.
Manager, or call collect 219-356-0100.

MANY OF OUR TOP MEN HAD NEVER SOLD A THING UNTIL THEY JOINED US!

Most of our top men don't look like salesmen, don't act like salesmen.
They're biggest hurdle is to come and talk with us.
We showed them how to sell—and we can show you how to sell. You will sell with a genuine training experience —allowance plus full commission while you learn. Then you'll need as big as you are. We provide you plenty of leads from our powerful national advertising.
You've "had it" with an ordinary job, see in person:

Mr. Bill Mogensen at the North East Holiday Inn on Tues., April 13th, from 10am to 4pm.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of four key numbers left to right, read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Wilson, I've had my eye on you... which, in your case, is bad news."

"I don't know whether you have grandchildren or not but on Easter you have to fix baskets for them, and, of course, there's always lots of candy left over..."
